GRANGE MAPS PROGRAM FOR AGRICULTURE

MARKET OF U.S. FOR AMERICAN FARMER URGED

General Sales Tax Opposed as Session Nears Close in Columbus

CROP INSURANCE VOTED

National System of Traffic Signals is Requested

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—(UP)—With policy on the long-and-short haul tariffs, crop insurance and taxation already formulated, delegates to the 70th annual session of the national grange worked under pressure today to round out a program for American agriculture before adjournment tonight.

In line with traditional grange policy, the grangers reaffirmed their determination to preserve the American market for the American farmer and opposed "any attempts to scale down the present excise tax law that would give certain commodities favored position."

Would Lower Exemptions

A resolution asking that "the base of taxation be broadened to the end that all persons engaged in made more tax conscious" was adopted. To accomplish this, the resolution proposed that income tax exemptions be lowered and rates in higher brackets be raised and that better administration be effected to defeat tax evasions.

Other recommendations included:

Taxation of incomes from all sources, including state and federal salaries and now-tax exempt bonds.

A study of the graduated land tax by the grange and congress.

Return of corporation taxes to the states in which they operate, for school purposes.

That gasoline taxes be used for highway purposes only.

The continuation of inheritance, estate and gift taxes.

The resolution opposed a general sales tax.

Without changing its stand that "farmers are entitled to the most economical transportation that can be secured," the grange nevertheless invited the railroads to offer a new program for increasing freight revenues in a resolution dealing with the controversial long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act.

The resolution said that the (Continued on Page Five)

Gov. Davey Opposes Elaborate Inaugural

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—(UP)—If Governor Davey follows his personal inclinations, there'll be no elaborate inauguration ceremonies next January to mark the commencement of his second term as Ohio's chief executive, he said today.

"Personally, I'd prefer to omit the ceremonies and to have the inauguration consist merely of taking the oath of office here in my office," the governor said.

He added, however, that there'll probably be some kind of a ceremony, in deference to the wishes of local organizations, including the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, which generally organizes the inaugural celebration.

No definite plans have been made, the governor said. He did not know whether the program would include an inaugural ball. Two years ago the governor's inaugural ball was combined with the president's birthday ball, as a charity affair.

SOLDIERS HONOR FAMOUS SINGER IN LAST RITES

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19—(UP)—Soldiers and Legionnaires sang to as "my boys" during the World War will give their beloved Madame Schumann-Heink the last honors of the army with a military funeral at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Services will be held in the American Legion hall of Hollywood Post No. 43 with an old friend of the famous opera singer to give the eulogy and the post chaplain to read the prayers.

It is a service the loved mother and diva might have chosen for herself. Among the military detachments and Legionnaires will be men she sang to in her hundreds of free concerts during the war — "my boys" for whom she carried the deep love of a war mother.

Besides the military groups will be only a small group of relatives, including four sons, a daughter, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and a few intimate friends.

The body will be borne to the railroad station following the service on a flag-draped caisson. A naval and military guard of honor will accompany the body to San Diego where a second military service will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday.

After the service at San Diego the body will be cremated at Greenwood cemetery near that city.

150 IMMUNIZED AGAINST FEAR OF DIPHTHERIA

Dr. E. L. Montgomery, assisted by Mrs. Blanche Kellogg, city health nurse, and Mrs. Clinton Truex, immunized 150 city school children Wednesday against diphtheria. The children were pupils of the first, second and third grades.

Cards were issued about two weeks ago by Mrs. Kellogg for the parents to consent to the treatment.

Since Jan. 1, 1,035 children in the county schools have been immunized.

TWO 'RACKETS' BRING INQUIRY FROM OFFICERS

A new type of racket for defrauding a gas station attendant was worked in Circleville Wednesday night.

Two men riding in a black coach purchased 11 gallons of gasoline from Chester Sturgell, at his station at Main street and Western avenue. One of the men presented a $50 bill in payment. Sturgell explained he was unable to change the large bill.

The men left a ring, later found to be worth about 10 cents, as security. They failed to return to the station to claim the "jewelry."

Police were notified but were unable to locate the car. It bore Georgia tags.

GREEN THUNDERS BITTER CHARGES AT JOHN LEWIS

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 19—(UP)—William Green thundered a charge of responsibility for splitting labor's ranks at John L. Lewis today and then turned diplomatically to solving a problem created by the Spanish ambassador's request to address the American Federation of Labor convention.

The unsuccessful plea of Ambassador Fernando De Los Rios for a representative of Spanish workers to speak to the delegates and the scheduled arrival of the ambassador here today in an effort to address the convention was not enough to interrupt the A. F. of L. internal warfare over Lewis' rebel committee for industrial organization.

GASOLINE CATCHES FIRE IN C. E. LITTLE'S AUTO

A fire in the auto of C. E. Little, S. Pickaway street, was extinguished by firemen Thursday morning on S. Pickaway street between Main and Franklin street. Gasoline around the carburetor ignited. There was no damage.

The fire bell was disconnected Thursday morning while new batteries were installed.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TOWARD DISPOSAL PLANT

Officials Learn They Know Little About Problem Important to City

EXPERTS ATTEND CONFAB

Treatment of Factory Waste to Provide Difficulty

Councilmen have a lot to learn about sewage disposal plants.

This was shown Wednesday evening when they heard engineers talk more than three hours of the various types of sewerage treatment.

"The more I heard them talk the less I realized I knew about it," one councilman remarked after the lengthy session.

The engineers had been invited to attend a closed session of council held after the regular meeting. Each representative was allotted 20 minutes to present his proposition to council.

Industrial Waste Problem

All of the engineers agreed one of the big issues to be taken into consideration here was the treatment of industrial wastes and whether or not the city plant would be used for that purpose. One explained if the city treated industrial wastes it would be a great inducement to bring industrial firms here. Another believed the cost of treating this waste would be a tremendous burden to the city.

EXTENSION ASKED BY COUNTY FOR BUILDING WORK

Cramped for time to work out details for the courthouse addition, county commissioners sent a letter to L. A. Boulay, state directors of PWA, Wednesday night for a 30-day extension of the date for opening the project.

Under terms of the PWA grant of $23,198 grant for the addition work must be under way before Jan. 11, be at its peak by April 11, and be completed before Jan. 11, 1938.

Commissioners explained Harry W. Lum, Columbus architect, was ready to proceed with plans for the building, but it would be difficult to rush all details for opening the project Jan. 11.

The extension would give them 11 weeks to work out their plans, commissioners said. They listed four weeks preparing the detailed plans and specifications, four weeks for advertising and accepting bids, a week and a half for tabulating the signing contracts, and a similar time for the contractor to get the job started.

"This job is an addition to an old courthouse," the letter read, "and a great many measurements and adjustments must be made to make necessary connections of all kinds to the old building. They will require considerable more time than to make plans for an entirely new building which is not tied into an old building."

FORMER COUNTY MAN, 48, IS DEAD IN LANCASTER

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10:30 a. m. in the Methodist church, Lancaster, for Ralph Peters Haas, 48, who died Wednesday of complications. Mr. Haas was a native of Walnut township, Pickaway county, a son of the late Byron and Clara Peters Haas.

Surviving are his widow, Ora Martin Haas, four children, five grandchildren, and a brother, Samuel of Columbus. Mrs. Monroe Valentine, Washington township, is a sister-in-law.

Rudy Vallee's Divorced Wife is Dead in West

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 19—(UP)—Messages of condolence came from the film and radio world today to the grieving father of Fay Webb Vallee, former actress wife of Radio Crooner Rudy Vallee, who died last night.

She succumbed at 9 p. m. without recovering from a coma in which she had slept for 41 hours. The 30-year-old former screen extra amazed physicians with the tenacity with which she clung to life fighting peritonitis which set in following an operation last Friday.

A few minutes before 9 o'clock nurses summoned Dr. Leo J. Madsen.

Former Police Chief Clarence E. Webb of Santa Monica stood at the foot of his daughter's bed as Dr. Madsen nodded that death had come.

Vallee Forgiven

Earlier Webb had told newspapermen he "forgave Vallee everything," even the "hard things that were said" during the court battles in which his daughter and Vallee were principals.

The singer kept in constant touch with his former wife's condition during the last three days and sent condolences to Webb. He telephoned from New York yesterday that he would be at the bedside except for broadcasting contracts.

"I love Fay Webb," he said. "I always had."

Early today in New York, Hyman Bushel, his attorney, announced that Vallee was grief-stricken. He had been scheduled to appear professionally at the Casino De Paris, a night club at 1 a. m. The engagement was cancelled at the last moment and Vallee was available to no one.

The romance between the dark-eyed girl and the rising young crooner started in 1929 as Vallee was just becoming famous. Miss Webb was then a youthful featured actress. They met on a studio lot.

They eloped to West Orange, N. J., July 6, 1931, when Rudy made her his "Dream Girl."

Within a year reports were heard that a separation was considered. The troubles were patched up, however, for another year. Then marital trouble developed that ended in divorce.

YOUNG FARMER DIES OF INJURY

Two Arm Amputations Cause Death of Frank Chambers, of Near Stoutsville

Shock and complications following a second amputation of his left arm, mangled Nov. 12 by a corn shredder, caused the death at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday of Frank A. Chambers, 28, farmer of the Stoutsville community.

The accident happened on the Chambers farm, one mile north of Stoutsville. Mr. Chambers was taken to Berger hospital with his arm amputated below the elbow. A few days later it was necessary to amputate above the elbow.

Mr. Chambers is survived by his widow, Ellen Jones Chambers; two children, Edward C. 6, and James A., one month; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Chambers; six sisters, Mrs. Moritz Kumpke, Maunee; Mrs. Pearl Waites, Amanda; Mrs. Francis Huddle, Stoutsville; Miss Jennie Chambers, Detroit; Miss Anna Chambers, Dallas, Texas, and Miss Wilda, Columbus; two brothers, Paul of Clayton, New Mexico, and Guy of Columbus.

The funeral will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the Stoutsville Reformed church with the Rev. W. E. Scherry officiating. Burial will be in the village cemetery by Crites and VanCleve.

THREE CHILDREN ARE VICTIMS OF FIRE IN HOUSE

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 19—(UP)—Three children died and three other persons were burned in an early morning fire that destroyed a residence here today.

The child victims were John Homer Sheets, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. January Sheets, Ruby Sheets, 6, and Ralph Sheets, 8, niece and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Sheets.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheets were taken to a hospital where Mrs. Sheets' condition was pronounced critical. Oliva Lee Sheets, 12, a daughter, also was severely burned.

The fire was discovered by Adler Braughton. The cause had not been determined.

CONVICT'S PLOT TO BLACKMAIL SINGERS NIPPED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 19—(UP)—Federal officers said today they had smashed a scheme thought up by a murderer in the North Dakota penitentiary, to blackmail four women opera stars by means of faked obscene photographs.

The plot was broken, U. S. Attorney P. W. Lanier of Fargo, N. D., announced, by the arrest of Peter Koterovs of Buffalo, the alleged eastern member of the conspiring group.

The intended victims were Rosa and Carmela Ponselle, Lucrezia Bori and Lily Pons.

The so-called "brains" of the conspiracy, officers said, was Theodore Larson, serving a life sentence for slaying his wife, his two sisters-in-law and a brother-in-law.

ARMY OFFICER, EX-RESIDENT OF CIRCLEVILLE, DIES

Funeral services will be held in Columbus Friday for Major John Bailey, of the Officers' Reserve, who died Tuesday after a year's illness.

Major Bailey was a former resident of Circleville and was active in the Ohio National Guard. Later he went to France from Columbus and became adjutant of the 166th Infantry of the Rainbow Division. He relieved Capt. R. M. Houk of Co. H, and served as captain until he was wounded and taken to a hospital at Chateau Thierry.

Mrs. Bailey died last September. One son, John, Jr., survives.

ROME, Nov. 19—(UP)—More guns, more airplanes, more warships, more men were voted by the Fascist grand council today to back up Premier Benito Mussolini's policies.

A few hours after the meeting, Mussolini named Filippo De Ciutiis Di Santa Patrizia, now counselor of the embassy to the Spanish loyalist government, as charge d'affaires accredited to the national government. The Italian embassy has been maintained at Alicante for several weeks.

Duce Talks Two Hours

Meeting dramatically in the dead of night after the Italian and German recognition of the Spanish nationalists — a gauntlet thrown contemptuously at the front of Communist Russia — the grand council affirmed the necessity of accelerating the race-like pace of Italian preparedness for war, especially as regards air and sea strength.

It was explained frankly that the present international situation was the reason for the vote.

Premier Mussolini spoke for two hours, explaining his policies — his agreement with Nazi Germany, his efforts to bring Austria and Hungary into an Anti-Red bloc, his relations with France and Great Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 19—(UP)—Great Britain will refuse to recognize a threatened Spanish nation.

Within a year reports were heard that a separation was considered. The troubles were patched up, however, for another year. Then marital trouble developed that ended in divorce.

THREE CHILDREN ARE VICTIMS OF FIRE IN HOUSE

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 19—(UP)—Three children died and three other persons were burned in an early morning fire that destroyed a residence here today.

The child victims were John Homer Sheets, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. January Sheets, Ruby Sheets, 6, and Ralph Sheets, 8, niece and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Sheets.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheets were taken to a hospital where Mrs. Sheets' condition was pronounced critical. Oliva Lee Sheets, 12, a daughter, also was severely burned.

The fire was discovered by Adler Braughton. The cause had not been determined.

CONVICT'S PLOT TO BLACKMAIL SINGERS NIPPED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 19—(UP)—Federal officers said today they had smashed a scheme, thought up by a murderer in the North Dakota penitentiary, to blackmail four women opera stars by means of faked obscene photographs.

The plot was broken, U. S. Attorney P. W. Lanier of Fargo, N. D., announced, by the arrest of Peter Kotoser of Buffalo, the alleged eastern member of the conspiring group.

The intended victims were Rosa and Carmela Ponselle, Lucreeza Bori and Lily Pons.

The so-called "brains" of the conspiracy, officers said, was Theodore Larson, serving a life sentence for slaying his wife, his two sisters-in-law and a brother-in-law.

Loyalist Air Fleet Moves to End Raids on Madrid

ROME, Nov. 19 — (UP)—More guns, more airplanes, more warships, more men were voted by the Fascist grand council today to back up Premier Benito Mussolini's policies.

A few hours after the meeting, Mussolini named Filippo De Ciutiis Di Santa Patrizia, now counsellor of the embassy to the Spanish loyalist government, as charge d'affaires accredited to the national government. The Italian embassy has been maintained at Alicante for several weeks.

Duce Talks Two Hours

Meeting dramatically in the dead of night after the Italian and German recognition of the Spanish nationalists — a gauntlet thrown contemptuously at the feet of Communist Russia — the grand council affirmed the necessity of accelerating the race-like pace of Italian preparedness for war, especially as regards air and sea strength.

It was explained frankly that the present international situation was the reason for the vote.

Premier Mussolini spoke for two hours, explaining his policies — his agreement with Nazi Germany, his efforts to bring Austria and Hungary into an Anti-Red bloc, his relations with France and Great Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 19 — (UP)—Great Britain will refuse to recognize a threatened Spanish naval blockade.

He Saw Murder; He Couldn't Speak

Jack Reid alone witnessed the murder of Sir Henry Severing. But he could not identify the slayer and, for very good reasons, he could not tell the authorities now or where it occurred. Paradoxically, he was instrumental in helping Scotland Yard get its man. Reid's part in the case affords another ingenious twist to

Two Arm Amputations Cause Death of Frank Chambers, of Near Stoutsville

Shock and complications following a second amputation of his left arm, mangled Nov. 12 by a corn shredder, caused the death at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday of Frank A. Chambers, 28, farmer of the Stoutsville community.

The accident happened on the Chambers farm, one mile north of Stoutsville. Mr. Chambers was taken to Berger hospital with his arm amputated below the elbow. A few days later it was necessary to amputate above the elbow.

Mr. Chambers is survived by his widow, Ellen Jones Chambers; two children, Edward C. 6, and James A. one month; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Chambers; six sisters, Mrs. Moritz Kumpke, Maunee; Mrs. Pearl Waites, Amanda; Mrs. Francis Huddle, Stoutsville; Miss Jennie Chambers, Detroit; Miss Anna Chambers, Dallas, Texas, and Miss Wilda, Columbus; two brothers, Paul of Clayton, New Mexico, and Guy of Columbus.

The funeral will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the Stoutsville Reformed church with the Rev. W. E. Scherry officiating. Burial will be in the village cemetery by Crites and VanCleve.

ARMY OFFICER, EX-RESIDENT OF CIRCLEVILLE, DIES

Funeral services will be held in Columbus Friday for Major John Bailey, of the Officers' Reserve, who died Tuesday after a year's illness.

Major Bailey was a former resident of Circleville and was active in the Ohio National Guard. Later he went to France from Columbus and became adjutant of the 168th Infantry of the Rainbow Division. He relieved Capt. R. M. Houk of Co. H., and served as captain until he was wounded and taken to a hospital at Chateau Thierry.

Mrs. Bailey died last September. One son, John, Jr., survives.

MASSONS GATHER IN NEW HOLLAND ON NOVEMBER 26

Outstanding Meeting of Year in F. & A. M. Work to be Led by W. C. French

DINNER TO PRECEDE Thanksgiving Day to Provide Setting For Affair

NEW HOLLAND, Nov. 19. — Thanksgiving Day among local Masons members of New Holland Lodge No. 392, F. & A. M. promises a dual occasion with district importance as well as community interest in addition to their customary individual observance of the day of thanksgiving.

Through earnest and tireless effort, Roy W. Griffith, worshipful master, and his corps of officers have been successful in persuading officials of the Eighth District and of the Grand Lodge of Ohio to permit the holding of the annual district Past Masters' Convocation in the local Masonic Temple, on Thursday, November 26. This is known as the outstanding official district meeting of the entire year.

In the convocation will be included a 1937 Masters' School of Instruction in which all Masters-elect of the district will receive their Past Masters' Degree. As the first lesson for the Masters-elect the Master Mason's Degree will be conferred on a candidate by a full team comprised of Masters-elect.

Webster C. French, Lecturer of the Eighth Ohio District, will have direct charge of the convocation and school of instruction. Mr. French was recently re-named as District Lecturer for the coming year. To him is also due quite a bit of credit for the securing of a district meet here.

A turkey dinner will be served by the Finance Committee of Purity Chapter No. 65, O. E. S., at 6:30 p. m. Many reservations are already being received for this feature.

The convocation proper opens at 3:00 p. m. All Master Masons are invited to be present for the school of instruction, dinner and evening general district session.

This holiday meeting promises to be the finest ever held in the eighth district, according to authorities.

OFFICIALS AGREE

Commissioners of Ross and Pickaway counties have agreed to guarantee rights of way on the county line road to speed up its acceptance by the state highway department. The state will be asked to take the road over on that basis. Ross county has obtained most of the easements necessary, but Pickaway county has obtained none on its side.

HERBERT MUNDIN AND MacCORMACK ON VALLEE HOUR

Grenet's Cuban Music, Night Club Sensation, to Be Heard, too

Rudy Vallee has lined up another impressive list of guest stars for his Hour tonight. Among the guest stars are John McCormack, celebrated Irish tenor, Herbert Mundin, screen actor, and Eliseo Grenet and his Cuban orchestra, one of the latest sensations in New York night life.

John McCormack, beloved by two generations, is on a concert tour of America. As soon as Vallee heard he was in New York, he signed him for the variety hour on the NBC red network at 8 p. m.

Herbert Mundin, born in England, has been in films four years. He has the distinction in Hollywood of making seven pictures within 15 months after the movie industry discovered him. Among the pictures he has appeared in during the last few months are "Shanghai Madness," "Orient Express," "David Copperfield," "Muttiny," "King of Burlesque," "A Message to Garcia" and "The Widow from Monte Carlo." The dramatic part he will play on the air has not been announced.

Eliseo Grenet and his famous Cuban orchestra opened two weeks ago at one of New York's new lively night centers, the Yumuri Club. Vallee heard them on one of his searches for talent and signed them for his broadcast.

A comedy act will be announced later.

Vallee's Connecticut Yankees will furnish additional music for the show, with vocals by Vallee.

DARBY-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Due to the weather the school's sports are confined to the school building. The students have been playing Checkers, Chess, and Table Tennis. The school is holding a table tennis championship both in singles and in boys and girls doubles. The players have, and are developing, fine art in the playing of the game.

Darby's athletes had two good games of basketball Friday 13 at Darbyville. The girls emerged victorious with a close score of 19 to 13. Win the girls may but the boys were defeated by a score of 12 to 11. Both teams fought throughout the whole game, showing much sportsmanship. The boys received their suits for the first game and they were appreciated both in looks and quality.

Darby will hold its annual Rabbit Supper Friday 20, at the school building. There will fine food and plenty of good rabbit.

There was no school last Friday due to the sewer leading from the building becoming stopped.

The grades are turning their thoughts toward the preparation of a Thanksgiving play, giving thanks to that noble group of people who sailed the Mayflower. Each grade has some form of thanks in the way of a play or reading. The play will be given November 25 at 2:00, every one is invited to attend.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief. Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent and scanty passages with smarting or burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 8 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NEUTRALITY LAW PLACED BEFORE SUPREME COURT

POWER DELEGATION HIT

Action to Halt Chaco War
Basis For Suit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Major aspects of President Roosevelt's neutrality program went "on trial" today before the U. S. Supreme court.

The jurists studied a test case arising from the government's attempt to prosecute airplane manufacturers for alleged violations of the Chaco arms embargo. The federal court for the southern district of New York ruled the legislation improperly delegated power to the chief executive.

Observers saw in the case a threat to methods frequently employed in embargo legislation at a time when administration leaders are concerned with proposed changes in neutrality laws and international developments are placing emphasis on this country's policies.

May Be Changed

The government, requesting a review of the case, contended that the present neutrality law, which the next congress is expected to revise, may be affected vitally.

In a brief filed by Martin Conboy, former United States attorney in New York who prosecuted the manufacturers, it was asserted that the delegation of power employed in the Chaco embargo resolution was similar to that adopted in 1794 permitting George Washington to declare embargoes.

Since then, the brief added, arms embargoes have been declared by several presidents.

The Chaco resolution was approved by Mr. Roosevelt May 28, 1934, and on the same day he issued a proclamation banning shipments of war materials to Bolivia and Paraguay. That proclamation was followed by a later substitute.

Saltcreek-twp SCHOOL NEWS

Saltcreek Twp. School Fair
The Saltcreek Township school fair was a success this year. As the fair progresses from year to year people become more interested in it. The quality of the entries were better than last year but the number of entries were not as many. The purpose of the fair is to promote better agricultural products in and around Saltcreek township and to have our boys and girls collect the better products and display them at the school where people may see and enjoy them. The liberal contributions by the business firms in and around our school district has assisted wonderfully in making our school fair a success. We take this privilege in thanking all of those that so cheerfully contributed or assisted in any way with our fair.

This year the entries were classified in each department.

Thus, making it much easier for the heads of the departments to keep records of entries, assist in judging, and easier to total number of points. For the first year this classification functioned very well. As this system continues it will function much better and those entering will know exactly how and where to make entries. This system is the same as used at the Circleville Pumpkin Show and County Fair.

The total contributions, were $192.75 and total expenses were $37.10, leaving a net for prizes amounting to $155.65. A flat entry with out any points is given a tablet and two pencils. 137 students made entries. 1194 entries were made and a total of 1817 points were scored on the entries. After deducting the flat prize from the net and dividing by the total number of points scored gives the value of each point. This was 7.8 cents.

Edward Lutz scored 259 points and made 107 entries to make high honors. He was closely followed by Robert Strous who made 100 entries and scored 186 points. Edward Lutz received the large total of $20.20 for the 259 points and Robert Strous received $14.50 including a 12 lb turkey.

First and Second Grades
The first grade pupils are learning their addition combinations in Arithmetic.

The second grade are dramatizing the story, "Billy Bang" from their second grade reader.

Twelve children gave pennies to help pay our membership in the Red Cross Society.

Third and Fourth Grades
The attendance for this year, so far has been very good. Both grades have had twenty days of absences in all.

The third grade made fruit bowl spelling booklets this week. They will spell in them for the month of November.

These grades will have the next Chapel program, to be given November 18th in charge of Miss Kuhn.

This room is decorated for the month of November. On the front board they have a vegetable and fruit parade. For the bulletin board the fourth grade made Puritan boys.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
Nineteen children gave pennies to help pay their membership in the Red Cross Society.

Here and There
The P. T. A. meeting will be held in the school auditorium on Nov. 29. A good program is planned.

The seventh and eighth grades and high school took an all-pupils English test here Tuesday. Vivian Justice ranked highest with a score of 193 out of a possible 220. Charlotte Schoal and Mary Garret were the second and third in scores.

Chapel Program
On November 11, the school had the pleasure of hearing Dr. R. H. Bowsher of Adelphi. Dr. Bowsher served in the Spanish-American war.

He told of his trip to the Philippine Islands and his experiences there. He exhibited many of his souvenirs. Some of them were shells, seahorses, books, pictures, scarfs, pearl spoons, swords, hats and other things. Dr. Bowsher's talk was greatly appreciated by the school and we wish to thank him for his contributions.

Other numbers on the program were songs by the first and second grades and a piano solo by Mary Margaret Good.

High School
The classes held their monthly class meetings Friday afternoon. A general check-up was made on the fair and other business was discussed.

Saltcreek vs. Atlanta
The unlucky day, Friday 13th was true to form for Saltcreek in the game with Atlanta. Atlanta turned the tables in an over time period with Atlanta scoring a fowl shot in the last few seconds of play. The Saltcreek boys played a good game and we hope for better luck in the next game with Darby. Wednesday night.

The girls also met defeat after giving all they had.

F.D.R. TO VISIT U.S. EMBASSY IN ARGENTINA TRIP

President of S. American Nation to Entertain During Stay

PROGRAM IS COMPLETED

Ambassador Weddell to be Host to Executive

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19 — (UP)—President Roosevelt's first stop on his arrival here Nov. 30 will be at the U. S. embassy before he begins the arduous formal reception ceremonies by Argentine government officials, U. S. Ambassador Alexander Weddell announced today.

"Final entertainment plans depend on whether the president lands from the cruiser Indianapolis at Mar Del Plata or comes right up to Buenos Aires," Ambassador Weddell told the United Press. "So far, it has been decided that he will go direct to the United States embassy, whether he docks here or comes up to the Retiro railway station."

The ambassador said President Roosevelt will visit President Augustin P. Justo at the Casa Rosa, the Argentine White House, but that this was the only official ceremony scheduled for his first day on the brief visit.

May Miss Banquet In the evening, President Justo is giving a banquet to delegates to the Pan-American conference convening the next day. But it is doubtful that Mr. Roosevelt will attend this social function and Ambassador Weddell possibly will arrange a private dinner party for him.

On Dec. 1, after inaugurating the Pan-American conference, President Roosevelt will visit an estate near Buenos Aires. Several have been offered for this visit.

In the evening, President Justo will be the host at another banquet this time with President Roosevelt as the guest of honor. The banquet will be at Government House.

On Dec. 2, Mr. Roosevelt is to return this with a luncheon for President Justo at the U. S. embassy. The program for his crammed visit then includes a sight-seeing tour of Buenos Aires and suburbs. He departs for Montevideo, Uruguay, in the evening — first stop on the return voyage to North America.

President Justo said the program, despite the social functions, would be simple in view of Mr. Roosevelt's brief visit. He added that the Argentine government would insist that the U. S. S. Indianapolis and the destroyer Chester, accompanying the cruiser to South America, dock in Buenos Aires and not at Mar Del Plata, 220 miles south of here, as had been expected.

ATLANTA SCHOOL NEWS

First Grade We have some very nice writers in our room. We have learned to write about half the letters in the alphabet, and most every child can write his own name.

Second Grade We have been very busy getting ready for our Thanksgiving program.

In our Free Expression class we have learned several Thanksgiving poems and our teacher has read us many Thanksgiving stories.

Today we talked about sentences that ask questions and sentences that tell us something.

Third and Fourth Grades The third grade made a tool poster in Geography class on which they had drawn and colored.

We all colored turkeys this week. Several of the boys and girls made log cabins of corrugated cardboard.

Gladys Zimmerman and Helen Gerhardt won the bird contest in English class this week.

Fifth and Sixth Grades Mrs. Albert Tarbill was a visitor in our room Friday.

We have been practicing for our Thanksgiving play: Just a Horse, Aunt Susie's Thanksgiving Party, and Ouch! My Corn!

We have had one-hundred per cent attendance for three weeks. Robert Schaeffer entered the fifth grade this week making a total of 31 pupils.

Sixth Grade Spelling honor roll: Darrel Turner, George Holt, Benton Patterson, Mary Margaret Kearns, Opal Zimmerman, Hazel Hatfield.

Fifth Grade Harry Stonerock, Paul Neff, James Steele, Lizzie Belle Bowles, Mary Stevenson, Carolyn Gerhardt, Charles Downing, Eugene Hayes, FRANK NEBORSKY, 16, shown with a pedigreed barred rock cockerel, won the title of "best poultry boy of the year" at the poultry industries exhibition in New York City. Frank, who has a chicken farm at Stockton, N. J., has 600 laying hens and 1,200 chicks. His ability to sell the 6,559 dozen eggs gave him the title.

CAP AND BALL COLT REVOLVER HIGHLY PRIZED

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UP)—Ollie Tinnin, who makes his living trimming hair and selling sporting goods, and who also has a fetish for collecting old types of arms and ammunition, has a cap-and-ball model of a .36 caliber Colt revolver, used in stage holdups during the hazardous days of Arizona.

Until recently, he had no idea of its value. He explained to curious visitors he had "just picked it up in a trade somewhere."

One day a representative of a national arms firm called on Tinnin to check his gun supply for the hunting season. He noticed the old weapon and jotted down its patent number and several outstanding features. He checked the revolver's history.

He learned the gun was one of the early "stage-robbery" models, made by Joseph Colt himself. Its type is unknown outside of museums. Tinnin refused to sell it, although offered a large sum.

Nobody sees the weapon now except Ollie's closest friends. He has it locked in a safety vault.

Doris Dean, Rose Marie Skinner, Mary Katherine Folliott.

Seventh and Eighth Grades Two new pupils enrolled in our room this week: Glenn Schaeffer in the seventh and Glenna Jean Schaeffer in the eighth. They came to our school from Monroe Township schools.

Spelling honor roll: Imogene Canterbury, Marian Hawke, Jean Creighton, Betty Sullivan, Twila Hayes, Stella Mae Skinner, Helen Goldsberry, Paul Mills.

Coach Ritenour's girls came through victorious with a 27-3 count in Friday night's tilt with Salt Creek at Tarleton. The Salt Creek lassies put up a hard fight but were unable to keep the locals from scoring. Perry guards were able to hold the Salt Creek forwards to no score during the first half.

We will meet Ashville on our own floor Friday night and we are expecting it to be a hard battle.

Joan Dawson—Reporter Our basketball boys started the season in a big way by defeating the Salt Creek boys at Tarleton. The starting lineup was Charles Pfeiffer and Herbert Lamb as guards, Herbert Bowsler and Howard Betts as forward, and Jay Skinner as center. Dan Steele and Gene Bush went into the game later. Everybody played a wonderful game. An overtime period was played to settle the tie and it was during this period that Dan Steele made a foul shot to give us our winning point. We are proud to say our boys made only one foul during the game. The final score was Salt Creek 16, Perry 17. We are hoping for another victory over Ashville this Friday. All the boys in our high school organized an athletic club called the A. A. A. We elected Charles Pfeiffer, Pres.; Sam Athey, Vice Pres.; Herb

BASQUE VILLAGE TO GO FISHING

HENDAYE, France (UP)—These are sad days for the hard-working native folk of this famous frontier post. For ages their principal occupation had been importing Spanish oranges, marketing them to wholesalers throughout France, pocketing the difference. This, plus the time honored Pyrenean profession of rum and tobacco smuggling, kept them comfortably well off until the Spanish upheaval uprooted the orange trade, checked the rum flow, stopped their profits.

Today, unemployment and misery have come to the sunny resort, and Mayor Lannepouquet is getting worried. Seeing his dole lists grow daily, he decided to find a new trade for his wards to put them on easy street again. Looking across the Bay of Biscay for a cue, the mayor figured there was no reason why his French Basque constituents couldn't make as good fishermen, for example, as their Spanish cousins across the border.

Just now the port of Hendaye harbors a number of fishing smacks from the nearby Spanish fishing port of Motricot. Their crews of expert sardine and tuna men, fleeing the war, ought to make good instructors, the mayor felt. So he drafted them to teach French crews the tricks of their trade and placed them on French maritime lists.

Canned goods manufacturers of Douarnenez, famous Brittany canning center, promised help by establishing branch factories at Hendaye.

Soon whole flotillas of fishing smacks may be going down the bay on sardine expeditions and dumping fresh fish in bins where mountains of oranges lay before. At least this is Hendaye's hope.

HAWAII TO GET MODEL VILLAGE

HONOLULU (UP)—Hawaii is making its first experiment on the island of Oahu with the American idea of rural housing and community villages. The enterprise is being backed by the Kaimuki Sugar Company.

The village is designed as a 50-dwelling community for employees of the plantation who will occupy the houses and use all facilities rent-free. Twenty-two of the houses garages and the community hall are under construction and are expected to be ready by the middle of December.

The site was bought from the government, conditional upon spending at least $25,000 in improvements.

A 10-foot macadam road runs in a circle through the village, bordered by two-foot gutters and four-foot sidewalks. Each house stands in a lot at least 8,000 square feet in area, and all cottages are at least 40 feet apart. Each lot includes vegetable gardens and a chicken run. Telephone and telegraph wires are installed out of sight from view points.

The community hall, seating 125 persons, has a stage and dressing rooms, and will be used for motion pictures, plays, lectures, dances, concerts and other activities. A children's playground and athletic field are nearby. Community garages are at the other end of the village.

The cottages, of three bedrooms living room, kitchen and service porch laundry, are wired for electricity and equipped with showers. The plan is so arranged that the workmen coming from the field can bathe and change his clothes without soiling the floor. An additional thought in this direction is the installation of hot and cold water on the service porch so that noonday lunch can be eaten in the kitchen without entering the other rooms.

and robbed them of the car and $54.

Last year Ranson's son Allen lost his automobile and $10 to a hitch-hiker in Florida. His uncle, Fred Ranson, lost his automobile, a load of hats and some cash to a hitch-hiker while driving from New York to Milwaukee.

Three times was bad enough, but this fall when two youths took an automobile and $9 from Allen's brother Howard after he had picked them up near Portage even the Ransons swore off giving rides to hitch-hikers. In fact, their faith in human nature was shaken. Samuel Ranson recalled that in 1932 robbers, who knocked the combination from the safe in his candy shop and took $200, left a note reading:

"Why don't you leave some money in the safe?"

F.D.R. TO VISIT U.S. EMBASSY IN ARGENTINA TRIP

President of S. American Nation to Entertain During Stay

PROGRAM IS COMPLETED

Ambassador Weddell to be Host to Executive

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19 — (UP)—President Roosevelt's first stop on his arrival here Nov. 30 will be at the U. S. embassy before he begins the arduous formal reception ceremonies by Argentine government officials, U. S. Ambassador Alexander Weddell announced today.

"Final entertainment plans depend on whether the president lands from the cruiser Indianapolis at Mar Del Plata or comes right up to Buenos Aires," Ambassador Weddell told the United Press. "So far, it has been decided that he will go direct to the United States embassy, whether he docks here or comes up to the Retiro railway station."

The ambassador said President Roosevelt will visit President Augustin P. Justo at the Casa Rosa, the Argentine White House, but that this was the only official ceremony scheduled for his first day on the brief visit.

May Miss Banquet
In the evening, President Justo is giving a banquet to delegates to the Pan-American conference convening the next day. But it is doubtful that Mr. Roosevelt will attend this social function and Ambassador Weddell possibly will arrange a private dinner party for him.

On Dec. 1, after inaugurating the Pan-American conference President Roosevelt will visit an estate near Buenos Aires. Several have been offered for this visit.

In the evening, President Justo will be the host at another banquet this time with President Roosevelt as the guest of honor. The banquet will be at Government House.

On Dec. 2, Mr. Roosevelt is to return this with a luncheon for President Justo at the U. S. embassy. The program for his crammed visit then includes a sight-seeing tour of Buenos Aires and suburbs. He departs for Montevideo, Uruguay, in the evening — first stop on the return voyage to North America.

President Justo said the program, despite the social functions, would be simple in view of Mr. Roosevelt's brief visit. He added that the Argentine government would insist that the U. S. S. Indianapolis and the destroyer Chester, accompanying the cruiser to South America, dock in Buenos Aires and not at Mar Del Plata, 220 miles south of here, as had been expected.

CAP AND BALL COLT REVOLVER HIGHLY PRIZED

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UP)—Ollie Tinnin, who makes his living trimming hair and selling sporting goods, and who also has a fetish for collecting old types of arms and ammunition, has a cap-and-ball model of a .36 caliber Colt revolver, used in stage holdups during the hazardous days of Arizona.

Until recently, he had no idea of its value. He explained to curious visitors he had "just picked it up in a trade somewhere."

One day a representative of a national arms firm called on Tinnin to check his gun supply for the hunting season. He noticed the old weapon and jotted down its patent number and several outstanding features. He checked the revolver's history.

He learned the gun was one of the early "stage-robbery" models, made by Joseph Colt himself. Its type is unknown outside of museums. Tinnin refused to sell it, although offered a large sum.

Nobody sees the weapon now except Ollie's closest friends. He has it locked in a safety vault.

HAWAII TO GET MODEL VILLAGE

HONOLULU (UP)—Hawaii is making its first experiment on the island of Ookala with the American idea of rural housing and community villages. The enterprise is being backed by the Kai-wiki Sugar Company.

The village is designed as a 50-dwelling community for employees of the plantation who will occupy the houses and use all facilities rent-free. Twenty-two of the houses garages and the community hall are under construction and are expected to be ready by the middle of December.

The site was bought from the government, conditional upon spending at least $25,000 in improvements.

A 10-foot macadam road runs in a circle through the village, bordered by two-foot gutters and four-foot sidewalks. Each house stands in a lot at least 8,000 square feet in area, and all cottages are at least 40 feet apart. Each lot includes vegetable gardens and a chicken run. Telephone and telegraph wires are installed out of sight from view points.

The community hall, seating 125 persons, has a stage and dressing rooms, will be used for motion pictures, plays, lectures, dances, concerts and other activities. A children's playground and athletic field are nearby. Community garages are at the other end of the village.

The cottages, of three bedrooms living room, kitchen and service porch laundry, are wired for electricity and equipped with showers. The plan is so arranged that the workmen coming from the field can bathe and change his clothes without soiling the floor. An additional thought in this direction is the installation of hot and cold water on the service porch so that noonday lunch can be eaten in the kitchen without entering the other rooms.

and robbed them of the car and $54.

Last year Ranson's son Allen lost his automobile and $10 to a hitch-hiker in Florida. His uncle, Fred Ranson, lost his automobile, a load of hats and some cash to a hitch-hiker while driving from New York to Milwaukee.

Three times was bad enough, but this fall when two youths took an automobile and $9 from Allen's brother Howard after he had picked them up near Portage even the Ransons swore off giving rides to hitch-hikers. In fact, their faith in human nature was shaken. Samuel Ranson recalled that in 1932 robbers, who knocked the combination from the safe in his candy shop and took $200, left a note reading:

"Why don't you leave some money in the safe?"

Santa left us a beautiful, new supply of dolls for all the little girls. Mother and daughter, we welcome your inspection—

IL DUCE CALLS FOR MORE MEN, MORE WARSHIPS

Europe Stunned By Action of Rome, Berlin Aiding Spanish Nationalists

Such refusal would be a challenge direct to the nationalists and their pretense to control the Mediterranean and Bay of Biscay coasts.

It would be an indirect challenge also to the Italian and German contention that the nationalists now are the real government.

MADRID, Nov. 19 — (UP) — A new loyalist air fleet patrolled the skies above the capital today in challenge to nationalist bombers to repeat their pitiless raids.

Pursuit planes of the latest type made up the loyalist fleet. The planes patrolled in units of three and four each, some over the city some in wide circles about it.

PARIS, Nov. 19 — (UP) — France has taken emergency measures to safeguard her interests in the Mediterranean, it was disclosed today, in answer to the Italian-German recognition of the nationalist Junta as the government of Spain.

Trouble in Few Weeks? There was open anxiety over possibility of trouble within the next few weeks.

GENEVA, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Months of tension between Fascist and Democratic nations of Europe was foreseen by League of Nations leaders today as the result of Italy's and Germany's recognition of the Spanish nationalist government.

Communist Russia seemed the real target of the Fascist-Nazi chieftains, as league officials saw the situation, but France, Great Britain and other democracies necessarily were involved.

LISBON, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, of the Spanish loyalist government, has protested to the League of Nations against Italian and German recognition of the nationalists, the loyalist wireless station at Valencia asserted today.

KOESCHNER LEAVES BERLIN, Nov. 19 — (UP) — All German consular officials will leave territory controlled by the Madrid government in Spain, it was announced officially today. It was understood that Otto Koescher, German consul general at Barcelona, boarded a ship for Germany yesterday as soon as the Italian and German recognition of the nationalists was announced.

MOSCOW, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Russia awaited news of British and French reaction to the recognition of the Spanish nationalists by Italy and Germany before deciding its own course.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TOWARD DISPOSAL PLANT

Officials Learn They Know Little About Problem Important to City

(Continued from Page One) eration are the types of wastes to be treated, the volume, degree of treatment, proper location for a plant to connect with the sewerage system, type of plant. Many surveys and plans will be necessary to present the project to PWA for a federal grant. Detailed plans for the plant construction will be needed also.

Many Types Available The engineers informed councilmen there are many various types of plants and study would be necessary to determine the type best suited for the conditions here and the treatment necessary to meet requirements of the State Board of Health.

They told councilmen surveys and plans for the plant could be prepared on a percentage basis or for a fixed price depending on the desires of council.T. M. Barnes, chairman of the council meeting as a whole on the sewage plant, presided at the meeting.

Engineers and plant representatives who attended the meeting were Murray D. Shaffer, Mansfield; representatives of the Jennings-Lawrence Co., Columbus, and the American Solvent Recovery Corp., Columbus; Floyd G. Browne, Marion, and J. T. Travers, Columbus.

One of the next steps councilmen plan to take on the sewage treatment plant will be the employment of an engineer or engineering firm to work with them on the various details. No action was taken in the employment of an engineer Wednesday night.

Voters approved a $75,000 bond issue at the last election for a disposal plant, and federal aid will be asked from PWA as soon as preliminary plans are completed.

ATLANTA STRIKE MAY SPREAD TO MOTORS' PLANTS

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19 — (UP) — Controversy over five United Automobile Workers' union buttons today threatened to result in a strike being called in every General Motors corporation automobile and body plant in the nation.

Council Argues Improved Lighting

"Circleville's Christmas business will be transacted in a first class tunnel this season and savings checks will go into other cities," Councilman Harry Steinhauser said in council Wednesday night in opening a drive for better lighting in the downtown district.

Fisher body plant here started a "sit down" strike yesterday when company officials ordered workers disciplined for wearing the buttons in the plant.

F. C. Pieper, southeastern representative of the U. A. W. U., quoted the union's national president, Homer Martin, as telephoning from Janesville, Wis., that the national organization would "back the local strike one hundred per cent."

"Keep the Atlanta Fisher body plant down," Martin said, according to Pieper. "If the company doesn't settle, we'll shut down every General Motors plant in the country."

Approximately 1,500 workers were affected here.

"I think it's about time council shows business men we have Circleville in our hearts and do something about this condition," he said. "We have had thirty-three Pumpkin Shows and each time have put up lights then taken them down. The last three years they remained up and merchants enjoyed the best business in many years because of better lighting. This year some of the wires came loose and to make them more permanent would take about $300. The money was not available so the lights are down."

More Expense Hit "We're having enough trouble paying our present bills without causing more expense," Ben Gordon said after Steinhauser commented his remarks. "What we should do is build our own plant."

John C. Goeller reported the city owes about $3,000 on its light bill from last year.

"Business men don't keep the lights on in their windows and they don't stay open after night," T. M. Barnes said.

"You'll find the lights on in our store window," Steinhauser replied.

Council took no action on Steinhauser's suggestion.

One of the principal issues before the Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' association is better lighting for Circleville's downtown streets.

ADVERTISING THE STORY OF THE DAILY NEWS

FAITH IN THE FUTURE

ADVERTISING is a tremendous force in the progress of America. It is a vital factor in the development and expansion of business and commerce, and in the building and growth of communities.

The railroads are among the biggest advertisers in the nation. And they deal in facts only. Individually and collectively (through the Association of American Railroads) they have increased their advertising appropriations, and are spending millions of dollars to increase business and speed up recovery.

The Norfolk and Western Railway—your railroad—is a consistent and progressive advertiser, not only of its efficient transportation service, but an advertiser of the territory it serves.

During a year the Norfolk and Western issues more than a million pieces of advertising literature, a large part of which tells the story of the territory's industrial possibilities, recreational facilities and climatic advantages, throughout the United States and in many foreign countries.

In a year the railroad buys approximately 52,000 column inches of space in newspapers along its lines.

It uses 150 pages annually in nationally circulated trade and business magazines. A large part of this space is used to advertise the products manufactured, grown and mined in the railroad's territory.

The railroad answers hundreds of miscellaneous requests for information and sends out thousands of photographs, news stories, feature articles, histories, etc.—descriptive of the N. & W. and the communities it serves—to newspapers, magazines, libraries, civic clubs, and individuals located in every section of the nation and in foreign countries.

Thus, your railroad is more than a necessary transportation agency. It is an advertiser of your community, your industries, and your resorts; it is an advertiser that is spending tens of thousands of dollars each year with your newspapers and printing establishments.

In short, the nation's railroads lead all other transportation agencies in volume of advertising—and in advertising that builds communities and community business. And your railroad is a leader in railroad advertising.

The Norfolk and Western has faith in the continued progress of the great territory it is privileged to serve. The railroad takes pride in telling the story of that territory to the world.

When you think of your railroad, remember also its value as an advertiser.

Many surveys and plans will be necessary to present the project to PWA for a federal grant. Detailed plans for the plant construction will be needed also.

Many Types Available
The engineers informed councilmen there are many various types of plants and study would be necessary to determine the type best suited for the conditions here and the treatment necessary to meet requirements of the State Board of Health.

They told councilmen surveys and plans for the plant could be prepared on a percentage basis or for a fixed price depending on the desires of councilman T. M. Barnes, chairman of the council meeting as a whole on the sewage plant, presided at the meeting.

Engineers and plant representatives who attended the meeting were Murray D. Shaffer, Mansfield; representatives of the Jennings-Lawrence Co., Columbus, and the American Solvent Recovery Corp., Columbus; Floyd G. Browne, Marion, and J. T. Travers, Columbus.

One of the next steps councilmen plan to take on the sewage treatment plant will be the employment of an engineer or engineering firm to work with them on the various details. No action was taken in the employment of an engineer Wednesday night.

Voters approved a $75,000 bond issue at the last election for a disposal plant, and federal aid will be asked from PWA as soon as preliminary plans are completed.

CLINTON COUNTY FARMERS MAILED FEDERAL CHECKS

District is First in Ohio to be Paid Under Soil Conservation Plan

$22,900.46 SENT TO 250

Pickaway Participants to Get Theirs in 1937

While Clinton county farmers are receiving 250 checks for $22,900.46 in payment under the federal soil conservation program, F. K. Blair, Pickaway county farm agent, does not expect local participants to receive their money until early in 1937.

Mr. Blair was surprised to learn that Clinton county was already receiving its checks. The county is the first in the state to do so. The $22,900.46 is being distributed by the county agent to farmers whose applications have been approved.

Task More Extensive
Pickaway county's conservation program is much more extensive than Clinton's with 1,450 applications already signed and others expected. Because of this fact, county farm officials will be unable to send their applications to Washington until later in November. Measuring of county farms and recording of data is being rushed to completion.

The checks mailed to Clinton county from Cleveland, northern division headquarters for the Federal Conservation unit, represent the first payment of 90 percent. The remaining 10 percent will be received at a later date, it was said.

Payment is based on appraisal of land, the number of acres retired from actual production after the county base of 50.1 per cent of the total undivided farm acreage has been allowed and for practices contributing to soil building, including sowing of clover and alfalfa and the use of lime and fertilizer. Payment per acre may vary from $5 to $12, according to the appraised value of the farm.

NEW WORLD AIRLINES OPEN WAY FOR 5-CONTINENT TOURS WHEN TRANSATLANTIC SERVICE STARTS

Flying Reporter, After 38,000 Mile Trip, Compares South American and Pacific Scenic Attractions

WASHINGTON (UP)—The immensity of the Guiana jungles, the great delta of the Amazon, or the magnificent panorama of the Cordillera. With these impressions there comes also the fascination of beautiful metropolitan cities.

On the Pacific, however, cumulative impressions are chiefly of the sky and marine. True it is that lovely verdured Honolulu and well-planned Manila give memorable pictures from the air and pleasure when on ground, but in the main, it is cumulous clouds, endless vistas of white-capped blue sea, or lemon-and-white skies at sunset, that linger in the traveler's mind.

In the early stages of air travel when the flight operation itself is of special interest, the mystery of navigation is fascinating. Here the trans-Pacific trip has the call over the South American ride. The strange process by which the proximity of a beacon light can be announced before it is seen, the ability to diagnose typhoons even when the head-winds are yet light.

Miami has become the gateway for the travelers' tide moving on north and south lines to Rio, Buenos Aires, Santiago, Lima and other cities of the southern continent. The San Francisco bay is the central point in the great air program developing in the Pacific.

The contrasts between South American and Pacific air travel are so great as to require a double choice. The southern continent is the natural goal for those who love land scenery. The Pacific is the lure for those who find joy in marine pictures.

Southern Jaunt Over Land
Air-travel in South America except for hops across the Caribbean not exceeding 700 miles each, is chiefly over land, or at least within easy view of coastlines. The tourist's thrill is derived from

JAPANESE FILM STARS ARE POOR

TOKYO (UP)—If you want to be a movie star in Japan and save a little money, assume an ultra-fancy name and have your face remodeled so your relatives cannot recognize you. This seems sound advice on the basis of a survey just made of the movies and movie salaries.

The survey shows that soon after some of the stars were in the real money, Uncle Taro developed a misery and couldn't work any more. The cousins could get good jobs in cafes, but had to have kimonos. Aunt Masako couldn't or didn't pay the rent and was taken to court. Little Mineo might win the annual art prize if he only had a teacher, some brushes, pigments, smocks, taxi fare and the like.

No Pay Rise
However, everything was arranged. Miseries yielded to science. Aunt got out of hock and Mineo started painting. The movie star in the case started pleading for an increase in pay and didn't get it.

The highest paid male star in Japan is Denjiro Kouchi, who with salary and extra money from manufacturers of various articles gets about $1,500 a month, is considered the luckiest. He has no relatives, never smokes or drinks, and has his fun visiting shrines and walking the mountains.

Salaries are remarkably low. Ken, rising young star and popular, receives about $70 a month, according to the survey.

Always Many Relatives
Actresses earn more, as a rule. Takako Irie, leading star, earns about $2,800 a month, but has 20 relatives, including a brother-in-law and his family. She can do as she pleases with what they leave.

The second largest income goes to Kinuyo Tanaka. She earns $700 a month, but, the report says, she has a large family.

Sumiko Suzuki, "vamp" fares much better on 150 a month. She lends money to other players at good interest rates, collects promptly, and banks the profit. Beginners receive an average of $15 a month, get more if they become popular, and become barmaids if they don't.

cause it does not yet include Japan, and does not yet parallel regular steamer lines. One immediate possibility, already demonstrated, is the remarkable time-shortening of round - the-world travel made possible by the San Francisco-Manila-Hong Kong air route.

Another certain development in the Pacific is the rapid increase of air travel between California and Hawaii, now only 15 to 22 hours apart, according to the prevailing winds.

LATIN AMERICA TO BECOME NEW QUININE SOURCE

CHICAGO (UP)—Discovery of a new source of quinine "near home" is expected to forestall scientific anxiety over a threatened shortage of the drug, according to Paul C. Standley, assistant curator of the Field Museum herbarium.

Specimens of Cinchona pubescens, the plant from which quinine is obtained, were found by Standley in a shipment of plants from the "wet forests" of San Ramon, Costa Rica.

Heretofore it was believed that cinchona trees were to be found only in South America, and in the East Indies, where the trees were introduced at great difficulty and expense some years ago. The domestic supply for this country was obtained chiefly from the Indies.

"It is of considerable scientific interest to find wild cinchona trees growing in Central America," Standley says, "because of the ruthless manner in which wild cinchona trees were long exploited."
Standley estimates that the propagation of this new source will supply the commercial quinine needs for several years.

DAVEY CHOOSES TRIO TO STUDY STATE BUDGETS

Allison, Bittinger and Caren to Meet With Department Heads

O.S.U. OFFICIALS CALLED

Governor Believes Present Tax Schedule Sufficient

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19—(UP)—Preparation of the state's budget for the next two years, for consideration by the new legislature will be under direction of a special committee of three, selected by the governor, and instructed to keep appropriations within the state's revenues, Governor Martin L. Davey announced today.

Members of the committee are Finance Director M. Ray Allison, J. Freer Bittinger, present speaker of the house, and John M. Caren, executive secretary to the governor. Bittinger, whose term as speaker ends Dec. 31, is slated for a post in the administration early next year, possibly as a member of the State Tax commission.

Keep Belt Tight
"It is this committee's job to meet with the heads of departments, bureaus and institutions and go over their proposed budgets with a fine tooth comb," the governor said. "The idea is to keep the belt as tight as we can without hurting anybody."

The committee, according to the governor, is already functioning. Its members, together with the governor, conferred with representatives of Ohio State university, including Vice-President J. Lewis Morrill, Business Manager Carl E. Steeb and H. S. Atkinson, member of the board of trustees, concerning the university's financial needs for 1937-38.

"The whole spirit of our meeting was to work this thing out harmoniously," Gov. Davey said.

"Our purpose is to understand each other's problems and to get the whole matter worked out in advance of the legislative session so we can have a substantially agreed upon program."

"No New Taxes"

In connection with his new budget plan, the governor reiterated his announced policy of "no new taxes," explaining that he believes the "re-enactment of existing taxes which expire early next year will solve the state's financial problem." These include the sales, cigarette, liquid fuel, amusement and use taxes.

He said he had no disposition to tell the legislature what should be done with regard to changing the sales tax, or whether a receipted tax should be substituted for it and the present coupon system abolished. He indicated, however, that he will not oppose any change the legislature sees fit to make as a means of eliminating present wide-spread tax evasions.

YOUR PROBLEMS AND MINE
By Lucille Blake

Stella J. Your problem is indeed difficult. It seems to me that I would certainly not continue a love affair with a man who considers himself only. Your love will always be one-sided and we
women have enough worries without that. Love must be mutually fervent to make marriage a success.

THE OLD WAR CRY

THE Pacifists and the Jingoists hate each other in a mutual sort of a way. One, in a certain sense of the word, complements the other. Without a Pacifist within hearing distance, a Jingoist would be miserable. And if the latter were not on hand to argue with the former, the Pacifist would be too unhappy for words.

These are the two tribes of malcontents that have been equally responsible for increased armaments all over the world. Do not get us wrong! We have not reached the insipid thought that a Pacifist is the person responsible for our bigger Navy and our increased Army, but he has helped to add fuel to the fire by bickering and arguing and pleading with the Jingoist.

No one wants war. Ask the average man. He will shake his head vehemently, and yet what has he done about it? War may be effectively blocked in any country by sane legislation. Little Switzerland maintained her neutrality during the World War; so did Norway, Sweden and Denmark, to say nothing of Holland. It is not a question of whether the Pacifists outnumber the Jingoists, or vice versa. It is a question of placing the right men and women in office who will see to it that petty squabbles with foreign nations will not draw a vast country into bloodshed and horror.

The professional Pacifist is almost as bad as the professional flag-waver, those patriotic ladies and gentlemen who would rather shed tears over a dead soldier's grave than live in peace and contentment. Our country must guard against the recurrence of what went on in those hysterical days of 1917. Let us not be swept off our feet by false propaganda and by distorted versions of doubtful atrocities.

"THUNDER IN THE FALL"

FOR reasons of personal satisfaction and peace of mind, we're going to place our hopes, if not any great measure of confidence, in the conclusions of William Lloyd Bennett, the weather prophet of Gibonville, New York, who has come forward with the most comforting prediction with respect to the Winter now at hand.

Prophet Bennett, it is true, stands alone. The meteorologists and other Scientific gentlemen in the United States Weather Bureau give him no support. The wild geese and the birds, which have flown south, have their own ideas on the subject. The beaver and the bear, the squirrel and the deer, the fox and the wolf are all preparing for the worst.

Mr. Bennett ignores all of these signs

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up early because of the promise of sunshine, but in short order was convinced that Summer really had departed. For a sharp breeze was blowing and carrying with it more than a hint of ice. So halted on the way to the post and gave the wagon a drink of alcohol that is supposed to keep its blood reasonably warm at near zero temperature.

Here they come and there they go, the band of mighty hunters, all with their legs and arms intact and most of them with reports of good shooting. Dropped into the American house to learn that every room was taken by visitors here for the sake of game. Saw some noble dogs and everyone seemed to be enjoying the open season more than the men.

Saw by the paper that a local applicant for an automobile driver's license in taking a state quiz declared that in the event of two automobiles arriving at a cross roads the car driving north has the right of way, and another believed that when two cars approach a one way bridge that the "one on the right side of the road" has the right of way. Immediately offered a prayer against meeting either one of those potential motorists on the highway. And also did note in print that the city's new tax rate is higher. But do not become excited over that. As the man with delirium tremens declared, "you ain't seen nothin' yet."

Irv Kinsey walked off with one of the smile cigars and the other met a sad fate. It was carried until noon without a single straight-from-the-heart smile having been seen, so the scrivener looked up a mirror, smiled broadly at himself and lighted up. Really, those cigars are not so bad.

Off to my barber for a much needed trim and hoping to learn of happenings around the ville, but Elgin was in poor voice and inclined toward a retrospective course of thought, so, except for 'good mornings' from John Carle and Millar Fissel, heard nothing there. And the streets were quiet. Bill Hamilton lamented the fact that he will be unable to attend the Michigan-State game but scores of other localites will be there to cheer for Ohio. Personal football enthusiasm is governed by the weather, so if the sun shines brightly will be there, otherwise will attend by radio announcer proxy.

Our own brave gridders have recognized Don Henry by naming him honorary captain of the present season and Earl Garner by choosing him as captain for next year. This is Don's last year on the team and next season his loss will be severely felt. A good boy and a fine young athlete, deserving of all the honor his teammates can bestow. That team of ours lost several games this season, but personally was prouder of them in defeat than in victory. They took the bad right along with the good as young gentlemen. That is something too frequently impossible to say about athletic teams even in college.

Here's Bob Brehmer in to inspect the plant and to talk about the enthusiasm in his Rifle Club. Bob as a boy carried The Herald and helped out in the mechanical end, at times turning the press by hand and always doing his own folding. The press that turns out completely printed and folded papers at the rate of 36,000 an hour is quite different from the earlier press Bob worked around.

TROUBLE WITH PATENTS

WASHINGTON—Reigning economic enthusiasm among New Dealers now is the great Swedish cooperative movement. However, a big unmentioned obstacle would first have to be removed before similar cooperatives could begin to function in this country.

This barrier is the 100-year old American patent system.

The President sent a three-man mission abroad to study the Swedish cooperatives and in addition asked his friend Barney Baruch to gather information on them during his European visit. But New Deal economists are proceeding cautiously before recommending similar efforts in the United States.

The electric light bulb business, one of the most successful of the Swedish producer cooperatives, is an illustration of the patent difficulty here. When the Swedish private bulb makers refused to cut prices the co-ops simply went into the business of making their own. The result was a sweeping slash in prices.

In this country that could not be done. The reason—patents in the hands of the private companies.

Ways of overcoming this handicap have secretly been studied by New Dealers insiders. The Science Advisory Board, headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has quietly sent a comprehensive study of the patent situation to the President.

Dr. Compton's researches led him to this conclusion:

PATENT MONOPOLY

"What was originally a self-sufficient patent to an individual for 17 years has developed into a patent structure or assemblage of patents, giving a substantially permanent monopoly in an advancing art to an industry or a group of industries. The justification for the extension in a democratic country on an absolute monopoly to an inventor for 17 years, on the basis that it is a reasonable reward for his disclosure of his invention in lieu of maintaining it secret, no longer applies generally."

From the Patent Office came the interesting information—that of the 100,000 patents issued annually, a very large percentage go to a small group of firms which maintain research laboratories. Under the present law, these concerns can prevent anyone else from making use of a new device or process even if they do not want it themselves.

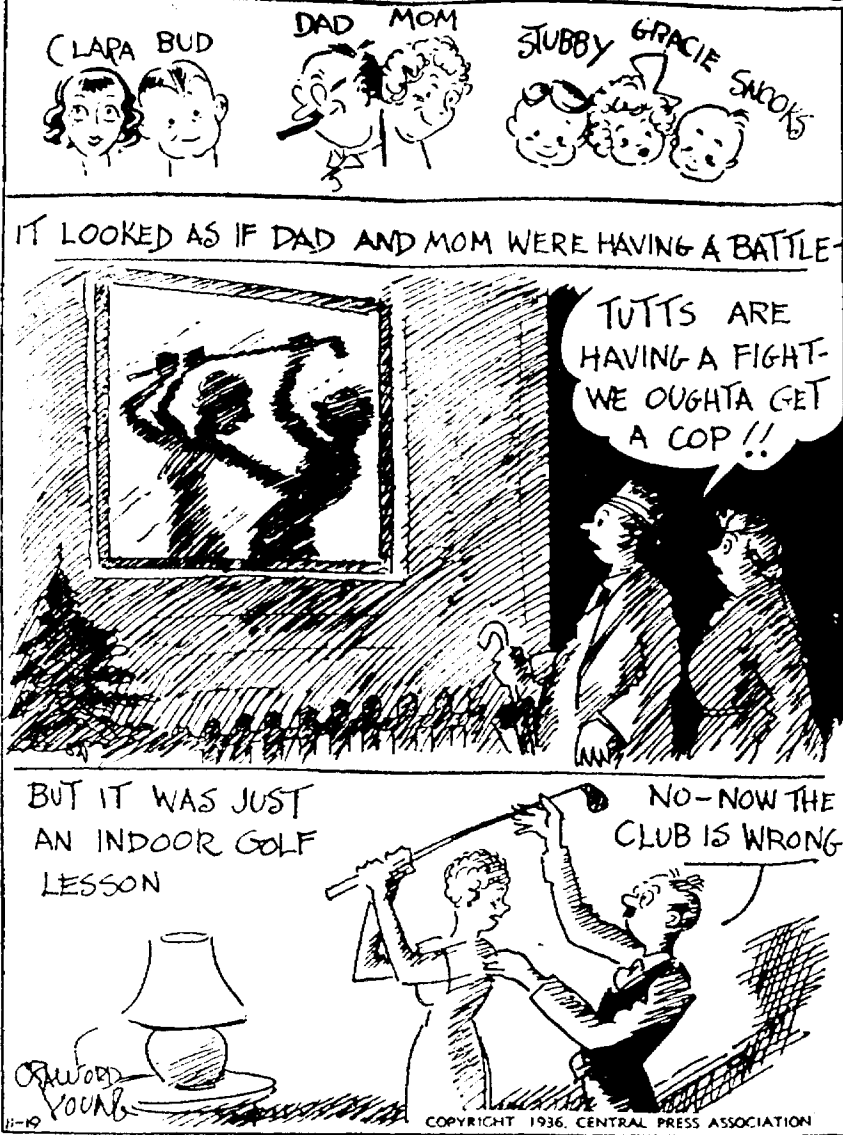

Detailed plans for reform of the patent system have not yet taken form, but the experts are working toward these objectives:

and portents and places his faith in a saying of the Indians, "Thunder in the Fall, no Winter at all." There has been a great deal of thunder this Fall, he observes, and it would not be surprising if Winter did not appear until February.

His theory stirs our hopes, but wisdom dictates precautions, just in case the Indians may have been wrong and the meteorologists and fur-bearing animals right.

DIET AND HEALTH

Hand, Leg, Foot Ill Due to Blood Vessel Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

YESTERDAY we talked about chilblains and the necessity for recognizing a tendency to it so that preventive measures could be taken.

Dr. Clendingen

With the onset of cold weather this is especially necessary, because people who have had a winter of chilblains are likely to be worse the next.

There is a condition which occurs especially in the hands. When a person affected with this trouble puts the hands into very cold water there is extensive blanching and pain. The entire hand is cold, numb, and becomes bluish, and this may last for some time. This appears to be the first stage of the disease called Raynaud's disease, and it is not unlike chilblains.

Here the blood vessels of the extremity apparently suddenly clamp down, shutting off all blood supply to a finger or toe, or sometimes to the nose. The relationship to cold which appears in chilblains is not noticeable. Apparently the control of the vessels is so completely lost that it does not need the stimulus of cold to make them shut down. A curious feature of the condition is the fact that it is symmetrical—both little fingers may be affected, or both big toes. If long continued, the nutritional damage may be so great that the ends of the bones at the tips of the fingers or toes may be absorbed.

Named After Physician Still another disease of this kind is called Berger's disease, because it was described by Dr. Leo Berger of New York. This occurs more often in young people, and probably is an inflammation of the coats of the blood vessels. The only cause that has been suggested is the use of tobacco, and about 85 per cent of the people who have it are sensitive to skin tests for tobacco (as against 10 per cent in the control group).

Still another condition is erythromelalgia, or red neuralgia, described by the famous Dr. Weir Mitchell of Philadelphia. People who are subject to this cannot allow the leg to hang pendant for any length of time, because it results in a mottled color due to extreme dilation of the vessels—the exact opposite of Raynaud's disease.

It can be seen that the common condition, chilblains, is in some ways related to all of these conditions. In all of them there is an unstable nervous control of the blood vessels. As in Raynaud's disease, in its early stages, chilblains is brought on by exposure to cold, and also the response to cold is by exaggerated contraction of the blood vessels. Chilblains resembled erythromelalgia in that when the foot begins to be warmed up the vessels overcompensate and flood the extremity with blood to the extent that it is painful and pulchish in color.

Modern medical science has devised a number of methods of treating these conditions, which we will discuss tomorrow.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendingen can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, in care of this paper. The BLOODHOUNDS BAY

By WALTER S. MASTERMAN

CHAPTER 1

JACK REID crept out from the thick bushes that grew down right to the edge of the lake. Crouching low among the tall burishuses, he looked furtively around.

A dank, unhealthy smell hung over the shallow reedy waters, and an evil mist, engendered by the heat of the day and night cooling, rose from the surface. A sombre pile rose from the lake, the ancient Abbey of Severinge, silent and forbidding.

The bright moonlight flooded the water with a silvery iridescence, like fairy glamor; but the walls of the building in contrast were in deep shadow, where the full moon shone splendid and serene above the roofs.

The man sank back among the bushes—it would be madness to cross the bright water until the moon sank behind the gabled roof, and, moreover, he had plenty of time at his disposal.

He lit his pipe, and went thoughtfully over his carefully planned preparations. Every detail had been worked out; he had turned up at the village of Eversden, posing as an idle dilettante artist searching for beauty spots, and had been attracted by the quiet grandeur of the Abbey. He had put up at the Bull Inn, and made friends with Hucks, the landlord; and from that it had been easy to strike up a friendship with Colindale, the agent for the estate, and obtain Sir Henry Severinge's permission to paint the Abbey.

The offer to rent a cottage on the estate had given him the opportunity of prolonging his visit, and an invitation to paint a picture of the central courtyard had enabled him to become well acquainted with the interior. He chuckled as he recalled his meeting at the "Bull" with a real artist who luckily had done all the talking and had not asked to see his pictures. He took from his pocket a plan he had made of the place, and studied it by the light of the moon.

Opposite to the place where he was sitting was the dining room, and above that Sir Henry's bedroom suite. Away to the right, in the tower above the gateway, was Lady Severinge's sitting room, and beyond that her bedroom. He smiled to himself; he had heard all about this grouping of rooms. The square tower showed up gaunt and black against the sky, with the tiny flagpole like a pencil, only used on special occasions—for Sir Henry was most punctilious in these matters.

The bridge, which alone connected the Abbey with the grounds, cast a shadow on the water, breaking up the silvery surface.

The small barred window opposite, scarcely three feet above the water, opened from a cellar—too damp for use—where old lumber was stored. He had explored that place, and had loosened the old rusty bars from their sockets in the crumbling stonework. Yes! Everything was in order.

Out of the clear night a faint, eerie, bell-like sound came to his ears, and a heavy frown clouded his face. Reid knew that sound only too well—Colonel Graham's bloodhounds. He had seen them at exercise; their horrible red-dened eyes and foaming heavy jaws, and the fierce lifting of the head when they "found" and gave tongue. He had considered that danger, and had taken precautions. They would find nothing of his from which to draw a scent.

He had worked out his scheme. First he would go to the chapel. The jeweled cross was removed throughout the world, and there were the gold candlesticks and vessels. Sir Henry, with perverse indifference, had never allowed them to be removed from the altar. After that there was the valuable old family plate in the safe. That matter had been neatly arranged. He had got the key from the butler's room and taken an impression. Now in his pocket he had a duplicate key. There were several articles of value in the study and dining room that he would pick up on his way out.

A shadow crossed his face as though a veil had been drawn, and he saw that the moon had disappeared behind the hummed mass of the house and the lake lay in deep shadow. The night was strangely still—not a sound from bird or beast. He unsling a large canvas bag from his shoulder, and took out a wading suit that came up to his neck and fastened with two buttons. Cautiously removing his coat and waistcoat he placed them in the bushes, and slipped silently into the water up to his armpits. Half wading, and half swimming he made his way across, and the ripples spread out from him like the opening of a fan.

Once across the water he felt along the slimy wall to the low window, for it was dark in the shadow. The bars yielded, and he drew his dripping body through the aperture. No one would be likely to think of this old cellar, and the bars could be replaced when he had finished his job.

He removed the wading suit and put on a pair of heeled shoes and black India rubber gloves, and then felt his way up the stone stairs. There would be no telltale fingerprints left behind, or footmarks, for the shoes had list soles, and were shapeless.

At the head of the stairs he emerged into a corridor that ran round the whole of the inner court and had once formed the cloisters of the monks in the days when the place had been a real Abbey. The moonlight pervaded the corridor from the slit lancet windows, showing as a patchwork along the stone floor.

He cast one glance into the central courtyard, stone-flagged except in the center, where one solitary yew tree lifted its ancient head, black as pitch with the moonlight behind it. He turned to the left and proceeded along the silent passage, and then to the right, where before him was the small square ante-chapel. He looked askance at the corner where, guarded by an iron rail, stone steps led down to the grisly crypt below the chapel where the dead Severinges lay in their lead-lined coffins.

He had a key of the chapel, made from an impression taken while painting a picture of the interior, and unlocked the massive doors. He entered the place cautiously and stood within the entrance, listening. The chapel was in almost total darkness, only a faint gleam came from the oriel above the altar. He made his way up the aisle, holding his electric torch ready, but preferring the darkness. For a moment he fancied he heard a slight noise and stood stock still, holding his breath, but nothing except the beating of his own heart was audible.

He went on; two stone steps led up to the altar-rail of wrought ironwork, and the gold of the ornaments on the altar shone with a faint gleam.

The sound was repeated—ominous to one engaged in his occupation, and a feeling came to him that he was not alone in the chapel. His nerves were injured by many such adventures, and he had no superstitious dread; but the question of discovery was another matter and a more tangible danger. He cast a rapid glance round, and his quick eye noted a space in the apex behind the beautifully worked silk altar curtain. Here he concealed himself, peering round the corner into the dim chapel. Suddenly he became rigid, and stared at the floor in front of the altar steps, where a thin band of light had appeared. It grew wider in jerks, and a square of light showed as though a flagstone were being pushed up until it stood on end.

Reid gripped himself tightly—for below the chapel was the crypt, and why should any living thing come that way? Someone else beside himself had business in the chapel that night.

The light suddenly went out without warning, and for a moment the darkness baffled him; but he seemed to make out a dim figure emerging from below, and he heard a dull metallic boom, as though a heavy weight had been dropped. He waited, peering into the darkness, but could see nothing—yet his strained nerves sensed that there was another in the chapel with him, perhaps even now stealing upon him.

Reid never carried any weapon on his expeditions, trusting to his skill and agility. How long he waited he never knew—the strain was getting so great that he had almost made up his mind to make a dash for it, when a faint sound, the pad, pad of shuffling feet, broke the stillness. Softly, in slow progress, the steps came nearer along the passage outside and presently through the palpitating darkness a glimmer of light showed in the doorway of the chapel. There was a pause; someone was fumbling with the door—and then a flood of light, dazzling in contrast to the darkness, showed in the entrance.

Sir Henry Severinge stood there, clothed only in pajamas, and holding a silver candlestick in his hand. The man behind the altar drew himself back and shuddered at some nameless sense of horror. Sir Henry came slowly up the aisle, holding his candle steadily, and moving in shuffling, shuffling steps in his bedroom slippers. Reid longed to shout—to warn him, but his tongue refused its office. He could neither move nor speak, but with horrified eyes watched the slow progress of the baronet as he might have watched a man going to the gallows in a nightmare.

It is a question of placing the right men and women in office who will see to it that petty squabbles with foreign nations will not draw a vast country into bloodshed and horror.

The professional Pacifist is almost as bad as the professional flag-waver, those patriotic ladies and gentlemen who would rather shed tears over a dead soldier's grave than live in peace and contentment. Our country must guard against the recurrence of what went on in those hysterical days of 1917. Let us not be swept off our feet by false propaganda and by distorted versions of doubtful atrocities.

"THUNDER IN THE FALL"

FOR reasons of personal satisfaction and peace of mind, we're going to place our hopes, if not any great measure of confidence, in the conclusions of William Lloyd Bennett, the weather prophet of Gibonville, New York, who has come forward with the most comforting prediction with respect to the Winter now at hand.

Prophet Bennett, it is true, stands alone. The meteorologists and other Scientific gentlemen in the United States Weather Bureau give him no support. The wild geese and the birds, which have flown south, have their own ideas on the subject. The beaver and the bear, the squirrel and the deer, the fox and the wolf are all preparing for the worst.

Mr. Bennett ignores all of these signs

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up early because of the promise of sunshine, but in short order was convinced that Summer really had departed, for a sharp breeze was blowing and carrying with it more than a hint of ice. So halted on the way to the post and gave the wagon a drink of alcohol that is supposed to keep its blood reasonably warm at near zero temperature.

Here they come and there they go, the band of mighty hunters, all with their legs and arms intact and most of them with reports of good shooting. Dropped into the American house to learn that every room was taken by visitors here for the sake of game. Saw some noble dogs and everyone seemed to be enjoying the open season more than the men.

Saw by the paper that a local applicant for an automobile driver's license in taking a state quiz declared that in the event of two automobiles arriving at a cross roads the car driving north has the right of way, and another believed that when two cars approach a one way bridge that the "one on the right side of the road" has the right of way. Immediately offered a prayer against meeting either one of those potential motorists on the highway. And also did note in print that the city's new tax rate is higher. But do not become excited over that. As the man with delirium tremens declared, "you ain't seen nothin' yet."

Irv Kinsey walked off with one of the smile cigars and the other met a sad fate. It was carried until noon without a single straight-from-the-heart smile having been seen, so the scrivener looked up a mirror, smiled broadly at himself and lighted up. Really, those cigars are not so bad.

Off to my barber for a much needed trim and hoping to learn of happenings around the ville, but Elgin was in poor voice and inclined toward a retrospective course of thought, so, except for 'good mornings' from John Carle and Millar Fissel, heard nothing there. And the streets were quiet. Bill Hamilton lamented the fact that he will be unable to attend the Michigan-State game but scores of other localites will be there to cheer for Ohio. TROUBLE WITH PATENTS

WASHINGTON—Reigning economic enthusiasm among New Dealers now is the great Swedish cooperative movement. However, a big unmentioned obstacle would first have to be removed before similar cooperatives could begin to function in this country.

This barrier is the 100-year old American patent system.

The President sent a three-man mission abroad to study the Swedish cooperatives and in addition asked his friend Barney Baruch to gather information on them during his European visit. But New Deal economists are proceeding cautiously before recommending similar efforts in the United States.

The electric light bulb business, one of the most successful of the Swedish producer cooperatives, is an illustration of the patent difficulty here. When the Swedish private bulb makers refused to cut prices the co-ops simply went into the business of making their own. The result was a sweeping slash in prices.

In this country that could not be done. The reason—patents in the hands of the private companies.

Ways of overcoming this handicap have secretly been studied by New Dealers insiders. The Science Advisory Board, headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has quietly sent a comprehensive study of the patent situation to the President.

Dr. Compton's researches led him to this conclusion:

PATENT MONOPOLY

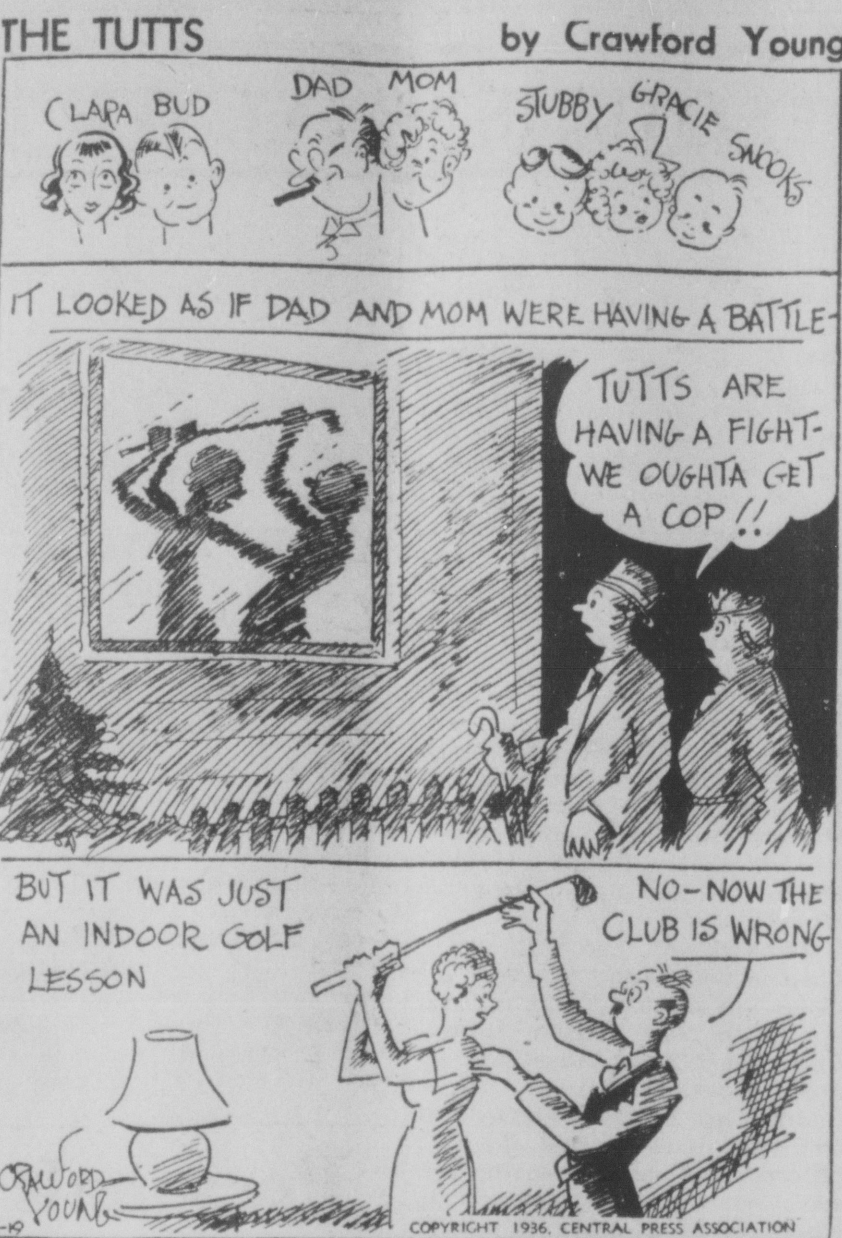

"What was originally a self-sufficient patent to an individual for 17 years has developed into a patent structure or assemblage of patents, giving a substantially permanent monopoly in an advancing art to an industry or a group of industries. The justification for the extension in a democratic country on an absolute monopoly to an inventor for 17 years, on the basis that it is a reasonable reward for his disclosure of his invention in lieu of maintaining it secret, no longer applies generally."

From the Patent Office came the interesting information—that of the 100,000 patents issued annually, a very large percentage go to a small group of firms which maintain research laboratories. Under the present law, these concerns can prevent anyone else from making use of a new device or process even if they do not want it themselves.

Detailed plans for reform of the patent system have not yet taken form, but the experts are working toward these objectives:

and portents and places his faith in a saying of the Indians, "Thunder in the Fall, no Winter at all." There has been a great deal of thunder this Fall, he observes, and it would not be surprising if Winter did not appear until February.

His theory stirs our hopes, but wisdom dictates precautions, just in case the Indians may have been wrong and the meteorologists and fur-bearing animals right.

DIET AND HEALTH

Hand, Leg, Foot Ill Due to Blood Vessel Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

YESTERDAY we talked about chilblains and the necessity for recognizing a tendency to it so that preventive measures could be taken. With the onset of cold weather this is especially necessary, because people who have had one winter of chilblains are likely to be worse the next. We emphasized the fact that in chilblains the pain is due to lack of control of the blood vessels, and that it tends to effect certain people, especially those who have poor nervous control of the blood vessels, and that it tends to run in families. If allowed to continue, it may run into something more serious.

There is a condition which occurs especially in the hands. When a person affected with this trouble puts the hands into very cold water there is extensive blanching and pain. The entire hand is cold, numb, and becomes bluish, and this may last for some time. This appears to be the first stage of the disease called Raynaud's disease, and it is not unlike chilblains.

Here the blood vessels of the extremity apparently suddenly clamp down, shutting off all blood supply to a finger or toe, or sometimes to the nose. The relationship to cold which appears in chilblains is not noticeable. Apparently the control of the vessels is so completely lost that it does not need the stimulus of cold to make them shut down. A curious feature of the condition is the fact that it is symmetrical—both little fingers may be affected, or both big toes. If long continued, the nutritional damage may be so great that the ends of the bones at

The BLOODHOUNDS BAY

By WALTER S. MASTERMAN

CHAPTER 1

JACK REID crept out from the thick bushes that grew down right to the edge of the lake. Crouching low among the tall bulrushes, he looked furtively around.

A dank, unhealthy smell hung over the shallow reedy waters, and an evil mist, engendered by the heat of the day and night cooling, rose from the surface. A sombre pile rose from the lake, the ancient Abbey of Severinge, silent and forbidding.

The bright moonlight flooded the water with a silvery iridescence, like fairy glamor; but the walls of the building in contrast were in deep shadow, where the full moon shone splendid and serene above the roofs.

The man sank back among the bushes—it would be madness to cross the bright water until the moon sank behind the gabled roof, and, moreover, he had plenty of time at his disposal.

He lit his pipe, and went thoughtfully over his carefully planned preparations. Every detail had been worked out; he had turned up at the village of Evenden, posing as an idle dilettante artist searching for beauty spots, and had been attracted by the quiet grandeur of the Abbey. He had put up at the Bull Inn, and made friends with Hucks, the landlord; and from that it had been easy to strike up a friendship with Colindale, the agent for the estate, and obtain Sir Henry Severinge's permission to paint the Abbey.

The offer to rent a cottage on the estate had given him the opportunity of prolonging his visit, and an invitation to paint a picture of the central courtyard had enabled him to become well acquainted with the interior. He chuckled as he recalled his meeting at the "Bull" with a real artist who luckily had done all the talking and had not asked to see his pictures. He took from his pocket a plan he had made of the place, and studied it by the light of the moon.

Opposite to the place where he was sitting was the dining room, and above that Sir Henry's bedroom suite. Away to the right, in the tower above the gateway, was Lady Severinge's sitting room, and beyond that her bedroom. He smiled to himself; he had heard all about this grouping of rooms. The square tower showed up gaunt and black against the sky, with the tiny flagpole like a pencil, only used on special occasions—for Sir Henry was most punctilious in these matters.

The bridge, which alone connected the Abbey with the grounds, cast a shadow on the water, breaking up the silvery surface.

The small barred window opposite, scarcely three feet above the water, opened from a cellar—too damp for use—where old lumber was stored. He had explored that place, and had loosened the old rusty bars from their sockets in the crumbling stonework. Yes! Everything was in order.

Out of the clear night a faint, eerie, bell-like sound came to his ears, and a heavy frown clouded his face. Reid knew that sound only too well—Colonel Graham's bloodhounds. He had seen them at exercise; their horrible reddened eyes and foaming heavy jaws, and the fierce lifting of the head when they "found" and gave tongue. He had considered that danger, and had taken precautions. They would find nothing of his from which to draw a scent.

He had worked out his scheme. First he would go to the chapel. The jeweled cross was renowned throughout the world, and there were the gold candlesticks and vessels. Sir Henry, with perverse indifference, had never allowed them to be removed from the altar. After that there was the valuable old family plate in the safe. That matter had been neatly arranged. He had got the key from the butler's room and taken an impression. Now in his pocket he had a duplicate key. There were several articles of value in the study and dining room that he would pick up on his way out.

A shadow crossed his face as though a veil had been drawn, and he saw that the moon had disappeared behind the humped mass

Mrs. King is Named as President of Boggs Chapter

The first regular meeting of the newly organized Major John Boggs chapter United States Daughters of 1812 was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Orion King, W. High street.

On account of the distance in attending meetings, the local group withdrew from the Jonathan Alder chapter at the October 31 meeting to form a chapter of its own.

Officers elected for the year are as follows: organizing president, Mrs. Orion King; vice president, Mrs. John Boggs; secretary, Mrs. G. L. Schlar; treasurer, Mrs. William L. Mack; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara Littleton; registrar, Mrs. Charles H. May; historian, Mrs. Eleanor Bissell; custodian, of the flag, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck; chaplain, Mrs. H. O. Pile.

Those appointed on various committees are: respect to the flag, Mrs. Hornbeck; membership, Mrs. Bissell, Miss Charlotte Caldwell and Mrs. Albert Herrstein of Chillicothe; grave marking, Mrs. May, Mrs. Amy Nickerson; press and publicity, Mrs. Mack; Major John Boggs, Mrs. Pile and Mrs. Boggs; patriotic education, Mrs. Schlar; legislation, Mrs. Clark Hunsicker; national defense, Mrs. Boggs; parliamentary, Miss Littleton; committee on by-laws, Mrs. Nickerson, Miss Littleton and Mrs. Schlar.

Necessary equipment will be ordered to be on hand for the next meeting which will be at the home of Miss Littleton, E. Mill street, when the study of the War of 1812, its causes, main battles and the ending, will be taken up.

Meetings are scheduled for the first Monday in each month.

Pythian Sisters' Convention

The thirty-seventh annual convention of District No. 9 Pythian Sisters held in Newark, Wednesday, was attended by several from the local Majors Temple.

The Pythian Temple in Newark was the scene of the meetings, both morning and afternoon sessions.

Music by Bertha Kiner's chorus, conferring of degrees, reception of grand and supreme officers was part of the program. Crestview Temple No. 550 put on the installation work with Marie Gardner, as installing officer. She was assisted by grand senior, Freda Crumm and grand manager, Winifred Cotton.

A dinner followed and an interesting program with music and a playlet presented by the Newark chapter was provided for the evening session.

Attending from Circleville were Mrs. Frank Davis as delegate, Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Roy Beatty, Mrs. James Carpenter, Mrs. Ralph Roby, Mrs. Charles Stoffer, Mrs. Mae Groce and Earl Pearce.

Sewing Circle

The Sewing Circle of the M. E. Young Ladies' Bible class were pleasantly entertained at the

In December the society will meet at the home of Mrs. Joe Brown in Circleville. She will be assisted by Mrs. Harry Brown.

D.U.V. Sewing

Thirty-four members of the local tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, were present in Memorial Hall to enjoy the covered dish dinner, served Wednesday noon, preceding an afternoon of sewing and other social activities.

Some of the winners in the games and contests, conducted during the afternoon were Mrs. Lucy B. Price, Mrs. E. S. Neuding, Mrs. Bertha Walker, Miss Daisy Murray, Mrs. Ruth Gearhart.

During the business session it was decided to hold the annual veterans' dinner Wednesday, December 9, at 12 o'clock noon in Memorial Hall. Veterans, their widows, members of the Relief Corps and of the D. U. V. are invited to this dinner.

V. F. W. Installation

At the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars held Wednesday evening in the club rooms, W. Main street, it was decided to hold the next meeting on Wednesday evening, December 2, at eight o'clock, at which time, installation of officers for the new year will take place.

The new officers are: president, Tessie Keyes; senior vice president, Anne Bennett; junior vice president, Lucile Fohl; secretary and treasurer, Mary Skeen; chaplain, Laurette Norris; conductress, Mary Crites of Stoutsville; guard, Cleo Goodchild; trustee, Minnie Brannon; historian, Charlotte Groce; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Eleanor Bissell; color bearer, Ethel Hoffman.

Visitors from Columbus will be present to assist in the ceremonies.

O. E. S. Installation

Annual installation of officers of Circleville chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will take place next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the regular meeting.

The installation will be preceded by a six o'clock dinner in the Masonic Temple. The regular committees for 1936 will have charge of the dinner and decorating the Temple rooms. Worthy grand Matron Miss Marie Louise Hamilton will be the installing officer. She will be assisted by other grand officers.

Members of the Circleville Chapter who wish to attend the dinner are asked to make reservations with Miss Virginia Marion. Phone No. 773, not later than Saturday, November 21.

Mrs. Carl Bennett, worthy matron-elect, requests that the 1937 officers meet with her in the Masonic Temple on Saturday evening November 21, at seven o'clock.

Chorus to Rehearse

The Monday club chorus will rehearse Friday at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Heffner Hostess

Mrs. Oscar Heffner, W. High street, was hostess to ten members of the Walnut Needle club at her home Wednesday.

Sewing and a pleasant social time filled the afternoon hours, with a delicious lunch served at the close by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Charles Forquer.

Members present were Mrs. Gail Hanover, Mrs. Orren Updyke, Mrs. Turney Glick, Mrs. Andrew U. Thomas, Miss Nellie Bolender, Mrs. K. D. Groce, Mrs. Forquer, Mrs. Cecil Noecker and Mrs. Noah Leist. Mrs. Charles Barnhart of Canal Winchester was the out-of-town member present.

A Christmas party has been planned for the meeting in December, with a dinner to precede the exchange of gifts. Location will be announced later.

Anniversary Dinner

Mrs. J. W. Maddux, Circleville township, entertained the Past Noble Grand Council of Madisonia, comprising members from Madison county, at an anniversary dinner at her home Tuesday. Her sister, Miss Maude Brown, who has been a guest at the Maddux home for several weeks, assisted.

The home was tastefully decorated with fall flowers. A centerpiece of fruit and flowers was used on the dining table and at each place was found a small shoulder corsage.

Following the three course dinner which was served at the noon hour, games and contests were enjoyed. The prize for the feature contest was won by Mrs. E. H. Green.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Edward Speasaker, Mrs. Bessie Duffey, Mrs. Keith Runyan, Mrs. Emma Preston, Mrs. Green, Mrs. G. D. Brown, Miss Fannie Watkins, Mrs. Gilbert Mossbarger, Mrs. Annie Rea, Mrs. Stephen Carter and Mrs. Howard Deck, all of Madison county.

home of Mrs. Ralph Crist, Wednesday afternoon.

Fourteen members were present for the sewing and the social time which followed. Garments are being made by the class for the needy families in Circleville.

A handkerchief shower was planned, the gifts to be sent to Mrs. Kenneth Lea, Watt street, who is spending the winter in Key West, Florida, for her health. Mrs. Lea was a member of the class.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Edwin Bach, S. Court street, in two weeks.

Ladies' Society

The Ladies' society of the E. Ringgold church met at the home of Mrs. M. I. Brown in Washington township for a pleasant afternoon, Wednesday. Mrs. Carl Brown was the assisting hostess.

The meeting was led by the vice president, Mrs. Loren Martin. Singing of the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was followed by scripture reading from the 104th psalm. Another hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" was sung.

Fifteen members answered the roll call. Group singing of "Beautiful Savior" preceded the main topic of the afternoon, "One Year Diary" read by Mrs. Mary Hoffman. Readings entitled "Lest We Forget" by Mrs. Martin, "The Puritan Girl" by Miss Cora Bach.

Gray, White Print

JOAN BLONDELL wears a gay, informal frock of gray printed crepe with an enormous white leaf motif. It has a deep V-neckline and short sleeves, and the skirt is the new short length.

"Are You Thankful" by Mrs. Joe Brown. The meeting was turned over to the social committee, which served refreshments. In December the society will meet at the home of Mrs. Joe Brown in Circleville. She will be assisted by Mrs. Harry Brown.

D.U.V. Sewing

Thirty-four members of the local tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, were present in Memorial Hall to enjoy the covered dish dinner, served Wednesday noon, preceding an afternoon of sewing and other social activities.

Some of the winners in the games and contests, conducted during the afternoon were Mrs. Lucy B. Price, Mrs. E. S. Neuding, Mrs. Bertha Walker, Miss Daisy Murray, Mrs. Ruth Gearhart.

During the business session it was decided to hold the annual veterans' dinner Wednesday, December 9, at 12 o'clock noon in Memorial Hall. Veterans, their widows, members of the Relief Corps and of the D. U. V. are invited to this dinner.

V. F. W. Installation

At the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars held Wednesday evening in the club rooms, W. Main street, it was decided to hold the next meeting on Wednesday evening, December 2, at eight o'clock, at which time, installation of officers for the new year will take place.

The new officers are: president, Tessie Keyes; senior vice president, Anne Bennett; junior vice president, Lucile Fohl; secretary and treasurer, Mary Skeen; chaplain, Laurette Norris; conductress, Mary Crites of Stoutsville; guard, Cleo Goodchild; trustee, Minnie Brannon; historian, Charlotte Groce; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Eleanor Bissell; color bearer, Ethel Hoffman.

Visitors from Columbus will be present to assist in the ceremonies.

O. E. S. Installation

Annual installation of officers of Circleville chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will take place next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the regular meeting.

The installation will be preceded by a six o'clock dinner in the Masonic Temple. The regular committees for 1936 will have charge of the dinner and decorating the Temple rooms. Worthy grand Matron Miss Marie Louise Hamilton will be the installing officer. She will be assisted by other grand officers.

Members of the Circleville Chapter who wish to attend the dinner are asked to make reservations with Miss Virginia Marion, Phone No. 773, not later than Saturday, November 21.

Mrs. Carl Bennett, worthy matron-elect, requests that the 1937 officers meet with her in the Masonic Temple on Saturday evening November 21, at seven o'clock.

Chorus to Rehearse

The Monday club chorus will rehearse Friday at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Heffner Hostess

Mrs. Oscar Heffner, W. High street, was hostess to ten members of the Walnut Needle club at her home Wednesday.

Sewing and a pleasant social time filled the afternoon hours, with a delicious lunch served at the close by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Charles Forquer.

Members present were Mrs. Gail Hanover, Mrs. Orren Updyke, Mrs. Turney Glick, Mrs. Andrew U. Thomas, Miss Nellie Bolender, Mrs. K. D. Groce, Mrs. Forquer, Mrs. Cecil Noecker and Mrs. Noah Leist. Mrs. Charles Barnhart of Canal Winchester was the out-of-town member present.

A Christmas party has been planned for the meeting in December, with a dinner to precede the exchange of gifts. Location will be announced later.

Anniversary Dinner

Mrs. J. W. Maddux, Circleville township, entertained the Past Noble Grand Council of Madisonia, comprising members from Madison county, at an anniversary dinner at her home Tuesday. Her sister, Miss Maude Brown, who has been a guest at the Maddux home for several weeks, assisted.

The home was tastefully decorated with fall flowers. A centerpiece of fruit and flowers was used on the dining table and at each place was found a small shoulder corsage.

Following the three course dinner which was served at the noon hour, games and contests were enjoyed. The prize for the feature contest was won by Mrs. E. H. Green.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Edward Speasmaker, Mrs. Beattie Duffey, Mrs. Keith Runyan, Mrs. Emma Preston, Mrs. Green, Mrs. G. D. Brown, Miss Fannie Watkins, Mrs. Gilbert Mossbarger, Mrs. Annie Rea, Mrs. Stephen Carter and Mrs. Howard Deck, all of Madison county.

The average age of an automobile is seven years.

PICARD PROVIDES THREAT TO NATION'S LEADING GOLFERS AT PINEHURST

HERSHEY STAR LEADING FIELD BY GREAT GAME

Jimmy Thomson Provides Test in Today's Tilt; Both Brilliant

COOPER, WOOD WATCHED

Denny Shute Expected to Eliminate Billy Burke

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 19 —

(UP) — Before the start of the 19th annual P.G.A. tournament which moved into the third round today, New York betting commissioners relayed word to Pinehurst that the best odds they could offer on Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa., were 7 to 1.

The price seemed short at that time, but today with only 16 of the 113 starters still in competition it was evident that the Broadway boys had very sound information. Picard's has been by far the most brilliant golf to date. Counting his 36 holes of qualifying, Picard has played 68 holes in this toughest of all tournaments, and has used 269 strokes, an average of just under four strokes a hole. And it was compiled on one of the longest and most hazardous courses in the country, where par for the 68 holes is 271.

If he is beaten it probably will be today when he engages Jimmy Thomson, the siege gun from Delaware, in the three-star attraction of the eight-match program. Thomson is the only man in the field who can match Picard's tremendous shots off the tee. During the last three days Thomson has had his short game under control, and may be able to withstand the Pennsylvania's magic putter and chipper.

Of only slightly less interest than the Picard-Thomson match were the engagements calling for "Lighthouse" Harry Cooper to take on Craig Wood and Bobby Cruickshank to play Tony Manero, National Open champion. Manero probably wouldn't complain if he lost, for it was only by a miraculous 25-foot, uphill putt that he survived the first day's slaughter which saw Sarazen, Armour, Runyan and defending champion, Revolta, fall.

Horton Smith, although a bit off form, was a decided favorite to take the measure of Willie Goggin, while Denny Shute, after his magnificent second round, was liked over Billy Burke.

Bucks May Face Six Big 10 Foes in 1937

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Although Ohio State still has one contest remaining on its current schedule, that with the traditional foe, Michigan, officials of the Buck Athletic department today turned their attention to the 1935 and 1936 seasons.

The Ohio State grid schedule for next fall was completed almost a year ago and only one date remains to be filled on the 1938 schedule.

HAYNES KAYOS ABE FELDMAN IN FISTIC GO

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Leroy (Howitzer) Haynes, Philadelphia negro boxer, had his first comeback victory under his belt today after knocking out Abe Feldman of New York in the second round of their scheduled 10-round fight at the Coliseum last night.

It was the first time Feldman had been kayoed in more than five years of professional fighting, but the rapidity with which the hard-hitting negro floored him in that second session forced Referee Al Reich to call a halt to the bout.

After winning the first round by a wide margin through outboxing Haynes, Feldman stepped into one of the Philadelphia's right hooks and went down. At the count of seven the New Yorker came up cautiously, but Haynes snatched another right home to the chin and down Feldman went again. This time he took nine, and in desperation rose throwing punches in every direction, but a straight jolt to the jaw had him on the canvas once more. Game to the last, Feldman came up once more at the count of nine, but he was so groggy that another hard right hook from Haynes found an easy mark. Al Reich didn't give him a chance to get up from that one, mercifully stopping it.

PAUL DEAN SAYS HE AND BROTHER TO WIN PENNANT

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 19 — (UP) — Paul Dean, tending his pigs, playing golf, watching the horses at Arlington and looking like an expectant father — the happy event will be around Christmas — took time out today to predict that "me'n Diz" will be in there chucking them up for the Cards next year.

"I'm going to get in shape this winter and make the greatest comeback you ever heard tell of," said Paul, forgetting for the moment that he was the modest one of the Dean pair. "I've been exercising my arm at golf and it feels fine. Remember, I'm only 23 and Diz is only 26. We got a lot more years in the majors."

Africa last night. Foord, a heavy favorite, was easily outpointed by the blond German in the 15-round bout at Narringay stadium. Neusel weighed 212½, Foord, 214.

3-Point Margins Few, Far Between

By BILL BRAUCHER

YOU CAN count on your fingers all the games this year that have been decided by a 3 to 0 score.

Temple stopped Holy Cross' winning streak by that margin when Dill Docherty, left tackle, booted a field goal from the 19-yard line, Texas A. & M. nosed out Rice by a 3 to 0 count and Washington State won over Oregon by that score. But the outstanding 3 to 0 victory of the season was Navy's over Notre Dame. The hero was Bill Ingram, son of Commander James Ingram and nephew of old Navy Bill Ingram.

There may have been a portent for Army's eleven in that 3 to 0 Navy victory. Army may have its hands full of Bill Ingram, Nov. 28, at Philadelphia. The prospect for a duel between Ingram and West Point's Monkey Meyer holds forth rare promise.

Young Ingram, not noted for anything in particular before that Notre Dame game, now stands out as a fellow who can do anything. Kick, run or pass. He becomes not only a part of the Ingram legend at Annapolis where it seems there always has been someone named Ingram to confuse the enemy, but he is a part of another Middle tradition woven about field goals.

Curses! Jack Dalton! Twenty-six years ago the Navy had a deadly accurate kicking specialist named Jack Dalton. He was generally called "Three to Nothing" Dalton. Whereas Ingram seems to be a dropkicker, Jack Dalton booted his from place-ment. In those days football was not as open as it is today. Power rather than deception, was the vogue. Nowadays perhaps the reason there are not so many field goals is that it is so easy to leave a pass when the opponent's line stiffens up inside the 20-yard line.

In the Army-Navy game of 1910 the teams were on a par. They tore at each other, ripping off only a few precious yards at a time. The tide surged up and down, the field, but when in score-ing territory neither team could get going. There were some fine defensive teams in those days.

Navy had great faith in leann-jawed "Three to Nothing" Dalton. Every time the Middle got close to the goal posts, Dalton tried a drop kick. Six times he failed, at distances ranging from the 18-yard line to midfield. Then, in the closing minutes of the game, the Sailors drove deep in Soldier territory. Once more Dalton was called upon to kick. There was a roar from the Navy cheering section as the ball sailed between the goal posts.

Repeats 3 to 0 Victory Dalton was bad news to the Army two years running. In the 1911 game, with dusk falling over the field, he dropped back and again booted the goal that sent the Soldiers home talking to themselves.

The educated toe of Babe Brown kicked consternation into the Army ranks the year after Dalton was graduated. Other kickers bobbed up in intervening years to spell doom for Soldier hopes.

Two years ago Slade Cutler, a tackle, dropped back to boot the field goal that brought another 3 to 0 victory for Navy over Army. That same year it was Cutler's toe that helped to beat Notre Dame by a score of 10 to 6. Cutler booted a beautiful goal that day on a muddy field in Cleveland.

This year Army has a strong team, twice defeated, but still a heads-up fighting outfit, with a constant passing and running threat in the person of Monkey Meyer.

But Navy has plenty of what it takes, too. And there may be an omen in the person of Bill Ingram — "Three to Nothing" Ingram!

WILDCAT, IRISH GAME SHADOWS BIG 10 FRAYS

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Northwestern and Notre Dame, the two surprise teams of the midwest, cast a heavy shadow today over four traditional Big 10 rivalries with their clash for vengeance and the mythical national football championship at South Bend Saturday.

Also scheduled were Michigan at Ohio State, Minnesota at Wisconsin, Indiana at Purdue, and Illinois at Chicago — four games backed by bitter football history. But the Wildcats and the Irish, with a feud of their own, captured the national spotlight with the possibility that Lynn Waldorf's Big 10 titleholders can clinch major recognition as mythical national champions of 1936.

About This And That In Many Sports

High Gridders Eat

Circleville high school gridders had their dinner uptown Wednesday evening, and it wasn't what one would call a football banquet either. — After the Waverly game it was nearly impossible to get the squad together because it was divided in many automobiles. — So Wednesday's feed was provided with the money left from that trip.

Monday evening the squad will be entertained when the Kiwanis club meets in Hanley's tearoom. — Don Peden, popular coach at Ohio university, will be the speaker.

Swimmers to Appear

Circleville swimming fans will have an opportunity sometime in December to see a truly great crew of experts perform in Columbus. — The date for their appearance is not yet certain. — In the outfit which is touring from coast to coast are Dorothy Poynton Hill, Georgia Coleman, Lenore Kight Wingard, Marshall Wayne, and Dick Degener. — They appear in Cleveland Dec. 4 and Akron Dec. 6.

Gridders in Scarlet

Ohio State's gridders will wear bright scarlet jerseys Saturday in their game with Michigan — Action pictures of the Illinois game brought this determination on the part of Francis Schmidt. Last week the Bucks wore white and Jim McDonald tossed a lateral widely away, something very unusual for the brilliant Springfield athlete. — The pictures disclosed that McDonald heaved the ball in the direction of a white-jerseyed official; his teammates were wearing white. — Anyway the scarlet jerseys are prettier.

Cage Drills Monday

Basketball practice will start at the high school next Monday evening, football men being given a week's rest. — The schedule for the year has not yet been announced. — Experienced cage men are few and far between, but Coach Jack Landrum believes his outfit will be a fighting co-operating outfit.

Hunting License Sale in Ohio Sets All-Time Record

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19 — (UP) — A record sale of hunting licenses was forecast today by Department of Conservation officials as they made an emergency order for 25,000 additional blanks.

The department's original order of 581,000 was reported nearly exhausted. The officials were confident the total sale would exceed the all-time high of 453,000 licenses sold in 1930. The sale last year was 420,000.

PICARD PROVIDES THREAT TO NATION'S LEADING GOLFERS AT PINEHURST

HERSHEY STAR LEADING FIELD BY GREAT GAME

Jimmy Thomson Provides Test in Today's Tilt; Both Brilliant

COOPER, WOOD WATCHED

Denny Shute Expected to Eliminate Billy Burke

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 19 — (UP) — Before the start of the 19th annual P.G.A. tournament which moved into the third round today, New York betting commissioners relayed word to Pinehurst that the best odds they could offer on Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa., were 7 to 1.

The price seemed short at that time, but today with only 16 of the 113 starters still in competition it was evident that the Broadway boys had very sound information. Picard's has been by far the most brilliant golf to date. Counting his 36 holes of qualifying, Picard has played 68 holes in this toughest of all tournaments, and has used 269 strokes, an average of just under four strokes a hole. And it was compiled on one of the longest and most hazardous courses in the country, where par for the 68 holes is 271.

If he is beaten it probably will be today when he engages Jimmy Thomson, the siege gun from Delaware, in the three-star attraction of the eight-match program. Thomson is the only man in the field who can match Picard's tremendous shots off the tee. During the last three days Thomson has had his short game under control, and may be able to withstand the Pennsylvania's magic putter and chopper.

Of only slightly less interest than the Picard-Thomson match were the engagements calling for "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper to take on Craig Wood and Bobby Cruikshank to play Tony Manero, National Open champion. Manero probably wouldn't complain if he lost, for it was only by a miraculous 25-foot, uphill putt that he survived the first day's slaughter which saw Sarazen, Armour, Runyan and defending champion, Revoita, fall.

Horton Smith, although a bit off form, was a decided favorite to take the measure of Willie Goggin, while Denny Shute, after his magnificent second round, was liked over Billy Burke.

Bucks May Face Six Big 10 Foes in 1937

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19 — (UP) — Although Ohio State still has one contest remaining on its current schedule, that with the traditional foe, Michigan, officials of the Buck Athletic department today turned their attention to the 1938 and 1939 seasons.

The Ohio State grid schedule for next fall was completed almost a year ago and only one date remains to be filled on the 1938 schedule.

The unfilled date on the 1938 card is for the opening game on Oct. 1. Buck officials announced yesterday the place had been offered to Indiana. If the Hoosiers accept the schedule will be closed, if not a non-conference foe will be sought and relations with Indiana severed, at least temporarily.

Texas School Booked
Opponents to be faced by Ohio next season are Texas Christian, Purdue, Southern California, Northwestern, Chicago, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan in that order.

In 1938 the Scarlet and Gray will engage Southern California, Northwestern, Purdue, New York U., Chicago, Illinois, and Michigan in that rotation.

If Indiana takes the opener in 1938, the Bucks will face six Big Ten foes instead of the usual five for the next two seasons.

The draft for the 1939 program has not been made, but the ground work for it will be laid when Athletic Director L. W. St. John and Coach Francis A. Schmidt go to Chicago for the Western conference meeting the first week in December.

There is a distinct possibility Princeton will be given one of the choice spots on the 1939 schedule. The Tigers and Bucks had a two-year contract almost a decade ago. In 1927, Princeton turned back Ohio 20 to 0 and the following year the teams concluded their brief relations by playing a 6 to 6 tie.

Ohio State officials are mum on what chance there is of relations being resumed with Notre Dame in 1939.

WILDCAT, IRISH GAME SHADOWS BIG 10 FRAYS

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 19 — (UP) — Paul Dean, tending his pigs, playing golf, watching the horses at Arlington and looking like an expectant father — the happy event will be around Christmas — took time out today to predict that "me'n Diz" will be in there chucking them up for the Cards next year.

"I'm going to get in shape this winter and make the greatest comeback you ever heard tell of," said Paul, forgetting for the moment that he was the modest one of the Dean pair. "I've been exercising my arm at golf and it feels fine. Remember, I'm only 23 and Diz is only 26. We got a lot more years in the majors."

Africa last night. Foord, a heavy favorite, was easily outpointed by the blond German in the 15-round bout at Narragansett stadium. Neusel weighed 213½, Foord, 214.

About This And That In Many Sports

High Gridders Eat

Circleville high school gridders had their dinner uptown Wednesday evening, and it wasn't what one would call a football banquet either. — After the Waverly game it was nearly impossible to get the squad together because it was divided in many automobiles. — So Wednesday's feed was provided with the money left from that trip. — Monday evening the squad will be entertained when the Kiwanis club meets in Hanley's tearoom. — Don Peden, popular coach at Ohio university, will be the speaker.

Swimmers to Appear

Circleville swimming fans will have an opportunity sometime in December to see a truly great crew of experts perform in Columbus. — The date for their appearance is not yet certain. — In the outfit which is touring from coast to coast are Dorothy Poynton Hill, Georgia Coleman, Lenore Knight Wingard, Marshall Wayne, and Dick Degener. — They appear in Cleveland Dec. 4 and Akron Dec. 6.

Gridders in Scarlet

Ohio State's gridders will wear bright scarlet jerseys Saturday in their game with Michigan — Action pictures of the Illinois game brought this determination on the part of Francis Schmidt. Last week the Bucks wore white and Jim McDonald tossed a lateral widely away, something very unusual for the brilliant Springfield athlete. — The pictures disclosed that McDonald heaved the ball in the direction of a white-jerseyed official; his teammates were wearing white. — Anyway the scarlet jerseys are prettier.

Cage Drills Monday

Basketball practice will start at the high school next Monday evening, football men being given a week's rest. — The schedule for the year has not yet been announced. — Experienced cage men are few and far between, but Coach Jack Landrum believes his outfit will be a fighting co-operating outfit.

Hunting License Sale in Ohio Sets All-Time Record

COLUMBUS, Nov. 19 — (UP) — A record sale of hunting licenses was forecast today by Department of Conservation officials as they made an emergency order for 25,000 additional blanks. The department's original order of 581,000 was reported nearly exhausted. The officials were confident the total sale would exceed the all-time high of 453,000 licenses sold in 1930. The sale last year was 420,000.

3-Point Margins Few, Far Between

By BILL BRAUCHER
YOU CAN count on your fingers all the games this year that have been decided by a 3 to 0 score.

Temple stopped Holy Cross' winning streak by that margin when Dill Docherty, left tackle, booted a field goal from the 19-yard line. Texas A. & M. nosed out Rice by a 3 to 0 count and Washington State won over Oregon by that score. But the outstanding 3 to 0 victory of the season was Navy's over Notre Dame. The hero was Bill Ingram, son of Commander Jonas Ingram and nephew of old Navy Bill Ingram.

There may have been a portent for Army's eleven in that 3 to 0 Navy victory. Army may have its hands full of Bill Ingram, Nov. 28, at Philadelphia. The prospect for a duel between Ingram and West Point's Monkey Meyer holds forth rare promise.

Young Ingram, not noted for anything in particular before that Notre Dame game, now stands out as a fellow who can do anything, kick, run or pass. He becomes not only a part of the Ingram legend at Annapolis where it seems there always has been someone named Ingram to confuse the enemy, but he is a part of another Middle tradition woven about field goals.

Curses! Jack Dalton!

Twenty-six years ago the Navy had a deadly accurate kicking specialist named Jack Dalton. He was generally called "Three to Nothing" Dalton. Whereas Ingram seems to be a dropkick, Jack Dalton booted his from placement. In those days football was not as open as it is today. Power rather than deception, was the vogue. Nowadays perhaps the reason there are not so many field goals is that it is so easy to heave a pass when the opponent's line stiffens up inside the 20-yard line.

In the Army-Navy game of 1910 the teams were on a par. They tore at each other, ripping off only a few precious yards at a time. The tide surged up and down the field, but when in scoring territory neither team could get going. There were some fine defensive teams in those days.

Navy had great faith in leant-jawed "Three to Nothing" Dalton. Every time the Middle got close to the goal posts, Dalton tried a drop kick. Six times he failed, at distances ranging from the 18-yard line to midfield. Then, in the closing minutes of the game, the Sailors drove deep in Soldier territory. Once more Dalton was called upon to kick. There was a roar from the Navy cheering section as the ball sailed between the goal posts.

Repeats 3 to 0 Victory

Dalton was bad news to the Army two years running. In the 1911 game, with dusk falling over the field, he dropped back and again booted the goal that sent the Soldiers home talking to themselves.

The educated toe of Babe Brown kicked consternation into the Army ranks the year after Dalton was graduated. Other kickers bobbed up in intervening years to spell doom for Soldier hopes.

Two years ago Slade Cutler, a tackle, dropped back to boot the field goal that brought another 3 to 0 victory for Navy over Army. That same year it was Cutler's toe that helped to beat Notre Dame by a score of 10 to 6. Cutler booted a beautiful goal that day on a muddy field in Cleveland.

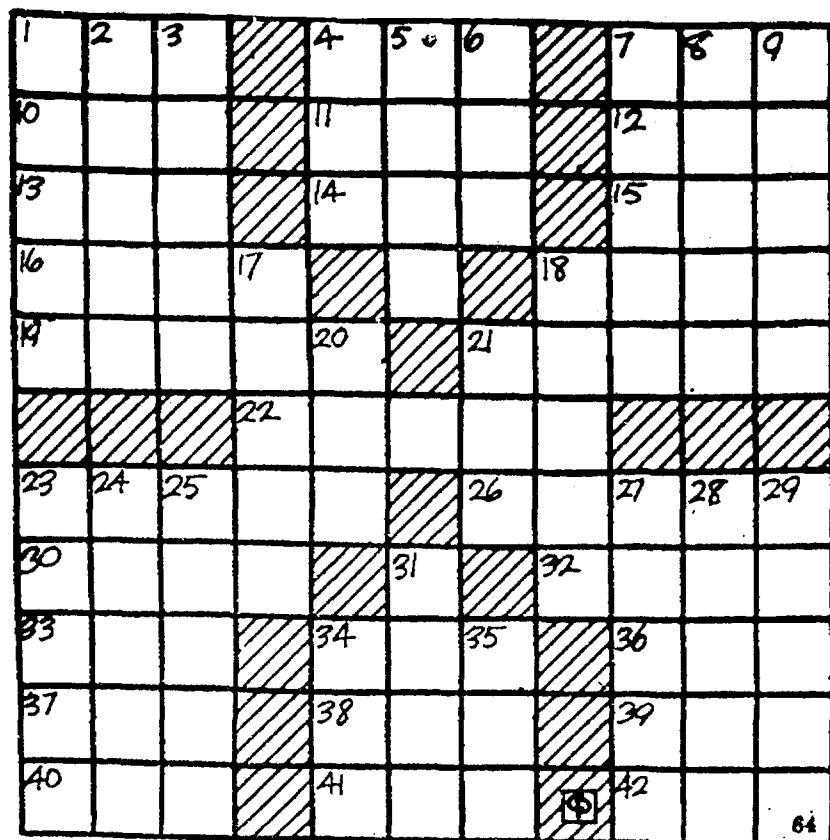

This year Army has a strong team, twice defeated, but still a heads-up fighting outfit, with a constant passing and running threat in the person of Monkey Meyer.

But Navy has plenty of what it takes, too. And there may be an omen in the person of Bill Ingram — "Three to Nothing" Ingram!

SHE THOUGHT IT OUT
EVEN IF the Deschappelles' grand coup is not as rare as some writers seem to think, it is one of the rarest stratagems employed in the game, even with experts who are not liable to miss a chance to employ it when necessary. For a young player, who never had heard of this coup, to think out what had to be done to prevent a defender from making two trump tricks through use of the coup, is almost unprecedented, but such a case was reported to me last night. Miss Vera Clifford, of Baltimore, was the heroine.

Bidding went: West, 1-Diamond; East, 2-Spades; West, 2-No Trumps; East, 4-Spades. The opening lead was the K of hearts. North played low, to prevent establishing a heart in dummy. South then led the 4 of diamonds, that dummy's Ace took. The 4 of spades was led. When North played the 2, declarer properly expected to find the five missing trumps divided 3-2 between defenders, and won with her finesse J, only to find South chicane (void). From what happened it is evident that declarer noted just which four trumps remained in North's hand, and the only possible way of going game. Declarer led her last heart. South played low. The Q was missing. Dummy's 10 forced North to win with the Q. The K of diamonds was led. Declarer ruffed, thus reducing her trumps to five. She had to again reduce trump length. She put dummy in with a club. A low heart was led back. North followed suit. Declarer ruffed. The six cards held by each player were as shown.

Declarer led a club and won two tricks in that suit in dummy. It now made no difference what was led from dummy, as North and declarer were reduced to four trumps apiece, and both of them had to ruff whatever dummy led. North had to ruff first. Had that player ruffed with the 7, things would have been made as easy as possible for declarer, who would have won with her 9, taken given North a trump trick, for the third defensive trick. When North ruffed with the 10, declarer would have gone down had she won, but she was observant enough to allow North to hold the trick, forcing that defender to give her the last three tricks.

& W. WILLING TO INSTALL WIGWAG SIGNALS AT ALL GRADE CROSSINGS

ENGINEER SENDS AGREEMENT TO CITY'S COUNCIL

Six Streets Included in Utilities' Plan For More Safety

OFFICIALS ARE DIVIDED

C. O. Leist Named Chairman of Committee

C. E. Armstrong, Portsmouth, assistant engineer for the Norfolk & Western railroad, informed councilmen by letter Wednesday night the company is willing to install electric wigwag signals at Washington, Scioto, Ohio, Mound, Main and High streets in lieu of maintenance of crossing gates at Washington, Mound, Main and High streets.

Councilmen were divided in their opinions about removal of the gates and after a brief discussion the problem was referred to council as a committee with C. O. Leist as chairman.

In addition to the Norfolk and Western improvements, Councilman Frank Baker urged officials of the Pennsylvania line be instructed to repair crossings on its lines.

Installation of wigwag signals at all the crossings operated by the Norfolk & Western would remove several Circleville men from their jobs as crossing-watchmen.

Wed Despite Reds

GEORGE MINOR (below), United States vice consul at Moscow, was to have married Miss Mildred Wright (top) of Charleston, W. Va., Minor's home town. Soviet officials arrested the minister who was to have performed the ceremony. Undaunted, Minor sent for a minister from Leningrad, 500 miles away. The ceremony came off all right, but a trifle later than scheduled.

Thursday against his mother, Ma Linda Smith, and others, for partition. The suit involves two Circleville lots in which Mr. Smith claims an undivided one-eighth interest as an heir under the estate of his father, George R. Smith, who died March 19, 1921. There has been no administration of the estate, the petition says.

MONEY APPROVED FOR CITY SHARE OF SEVERAL JOBS

Two ordinances appropriating funds for sewer work, the Memorial hall sidewalk and incidental expenses for the mayor's office were passed by council Wednesday night.

The city's share of the new sidewalks at the Memorial hall, installed under WPA, is $154.78. One half of the work is to be paid by the city and the other by the county. Council appropriated $50 for the mayor's fund, $400 for material expenses on sewer projects and $100 for labor.

CITY FUNDS LOW UNTIL NEW TAX SPLIT IS MADE

Collections at Berger hospital between Nov. 1 and 15 amounted to $576.19, Charles O. Caskey, safety director, reported to council Wednesday night.

Councilman Ben Gordon, chairman of the finance committee, said the hospital fund as of Nov. 18 was overdrawn $668.54 and all other city funds are running low until a distribution is received from the county. The funds were: general $291.96, library $2,091.30, auto-street repair $729.26, and gasoline tax $1,352.96.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Millions of readers roared at "Old Hutch" when the story appeared in a national magazine. They and additional millions will laugh when they see Wallace Beery in the title role of the film version opening Friday at the Cliftona Theatre.

The "laziest man in the world" finds $100,000 in stolen bills—and he can't find a way to spend it! That's the predicament in which Wallace Beery finds himself in Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's "Old Hutch."

Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, the lovable romantic team of "Ah, Wilderness!" supply the heart interest for the production, which was directed by J. Walter Ruben, of "Riffraff" and "Trouble for Two" fame.

The latest Hopalong Cassidy picture, "Hopalong Cassidy Returns" is on the same double feature program!

AT THE CIRCLE

Scotty Beckett, diminutive comedian of the "Our Gang" comedies, stepped into the dignity of his first tailor-made suit for his first appearance in a full-length feature picture.

He was measured by a tailor for a military school uniform, when cast as Donald, the child center of a guardianship fight and subsequent wild motor dash from one end of a state to another in "Pursuit," Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's new comedy-adventure-romance with Chester Morris and Sally Eilers, now showing at the Circle Theatre.

AT THE GRAND

"Yellowstone", a geyser murder mystery, will be the picture at the Grand theatre Friday and Saturday. In the cast are Henry Hunter, Judith Barrett, Alan Hale, Ralph Morgan, Andy Devine, Monroe Owsley, and Rollo Lloyd.
